SERGEANT CAHILL SUES FOR $10,000

Former Police Sergeant M. J. Cahill, through his son, Attorney John T. Cahill, has brought an action to recover $10,000 damages from the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company. Sergeant Cahill was injured in alighting from a trolley car and was confined to his home on West O'Reilly street for a considerable length of time. So serious was his injuries that he was forced to resign from the police force of which he had been an efficient member for a number of years. The railroad company's attorneys are Brinnier & Canfield.

Albany Special Term.

Judge Cochrane will hold a special term of supreme court at Albany on Saturday, July 25, instead of Judge Hasbrouck who is spending his vacation in Alaska.

HUERTA RESIGNS AND LEAVES MEXICO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, July 16.—With Victoriano Huerta in flight, Francisco Carbajal installed in the National Palace as provisional president and heavy forces of troops and police on the alert to prevent disorder, tension in this city was acute today.

Soldiers patrolled the principal streets during the night to prevent any demonstration of violence led by the supporters of Huerta, but the hours of darkness passed quietly.

President Carbajal has taken office with a pledge to do his utmost to restore peace in Mexico and "Facilitate re-establishment of friendly relations with the United States."

Whether he will be successful depends upon the revolutionists. Many Madero leaders have already given their endorsement to Carbajal as provisional president. They will urge General Carranza to co-operate with him for a cessation of hostilities throughout the republic, but the success of their efforts is doubtful.

That the real crisis in Mexico is at hand is the general opinion here. What effect the resignation of Huerta will have upon the fate of foreigners cannot be forcasted, but there are strong fears among the foreigners that the Federal forces left without the iron hand that guided them in the futile efforts to halt the rushes of the Constitutionalist force [illegible]ward, will commit excesses that will shock the civilized world.

The resignation of Huerta was brought about by many months of patient work by members of the diplomatic corps here, particularly Sir Lionel Carden, British minister, and Senor Oliveira, the Brazilian envoy, but even they admit that the situation is fraught with peril.

The retirement of the dictator was the first step in the program of the diplomats. The next will be to induce Carranza to deal amicably with Carbajal for the establishment of a government that will hold office until an election can be held. For this they rely mainly upon the United States.

In the meantime all foreigners have been warned to avoid any action that might precipitate a reign of terror. In this city today Americans and other foreigners remained close to the concentration zones. They were advised to [illegible] streets as far as possible the last two days [illegible] Vera Cruz. In these preparations were made for the sending of an international force of marines here in case such action became necessary.

It was to facilitate the bringing of marines to this city, if such action were found necessary, that the diplomats secured Huerta's order to repair the railroad line where it was broken west of Vera Cruz. Work on these repairs are already under way.

Though Huerta resigned late yesterday afternoon and departed from the capital before congress had accepted it, the news of his withdrawal did not reach all sections of the city until this morning. The news published in the morning papers was the first intimation received by thousands that the dictator had run his course.

Government affairs went on as usual at the various bureaus today. They were conducted by sub-secretaries, the cabinet ministers having tendered their resignation to President Carbajal. It is probable that some of the former ministers will be asked to retain office but the majority will be eliminated. Minister of War Blanquet left the capital with Huerta who was also accompanied by a large number of friends.

Going by automobile to Los Reyes, 16 miles from the capital, Huerta and his party boarded a train that had been in readiness there for many hours. Though it was stated at the National Palace today that Huerta's destination was unknown to the officials there, it was generally understood that he was on his way to Puerto Mexico to board the Dutch cruiser Kortenaer. Reports were in general circulation today that in Huerta's party was the commander of the Kortenaer, who recently came to the capital on a secret mission.

No credence was given to reports that Huerta and Blanquet had gone to Puebla to rally about them the troops still loyal and there fight to the death against the rebels. Huerta had often declared that he would die before surrendering to the revolutionists, but he had also often reiterated his intention of not resigning.

Members of the diplomatic corps believe that he will go to Europe and there pass the rest of his days. He has accumulated wealth in the year and five months that he has been president and practically all this wealth is deposited in European banks.

Bodley Out on Bail.

Fred Bodley, a boarder at the county hotel, was released this morning on furnishing bail of $500, by Judge Jenkins upon the application of Milton O. Auchmoody, attorney for Bodley. The young man was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree in stealing two valuable watches in Gardiner.

Rev. Mr. Berg to Preach.

The Rev. Irving H. Berg will preach on Sunday morning in the Fair Street Reformed Church. Dr. Berg is well-known in this city and a few years ago was extended a call by the First Reformed Church which he declined. At one time he was a pastor of a church in Catskill, but is now located at Hartford, Conn. He is spending the summer at Pine Hill.

DAUGHTER OF SLAIN FREEPORT WOMAN SUFFERS LOSS OF MOTHER.

(Miss Madeline Bailey)

The above is a new photograph of Miss Madeline Bailey, 16 year-old daughter of Mrs. Louise Bailey, the victim of the Freeport, L. I., tragedy, which has aroused nation wide interest. Miss Bailey testified before the grand jury which is hearing District Attorney Smith's plea for the indictment of Mrs. Florence Carman the alleged slayer, grief stricken over the death of her mother.

WHICH DIRECTION IS HUERTA HEADED?

Huerta, what?

This was the question [illegible] sides today [illegible] out answer. Gen. Funston and his aides were on the alert for any news from the capital and all information that the American commander secured was immediately forwarded to Washington.

Whether Gen. Huerta had gone to Puerto Mexico or Salina Cruz, was headed for Vera Cruz or had decided to take the field against the rebels, was a riddle that dispatches received here failed to solve. The departure of British and Dutch ships for Puerto Mexico indicated that the dictator might board a foreign ship there, but there have been rumors current for weeks that if he left the capital he would go to Salina Cruz on the Pacific coast and there board the Japanese warship Idzumo.

Sailing of the Spanish steamer Alfonso XIII was postponed this morning until afternoon, leading to reports that she was being held until the arrival of General Huerta and his party from Mexico City. The steamer is going to Havana and will have as one of its passengers Esteva Ruiz, Huerta's former secretary of foreign affairs.

Stay Granted in Lloyd Cases.

On Wednesday afternoon Judge Cochrane at Hudson upon the application of Mayor Canfield of Brinnier & Canfield, granted a stay of judgment in the two actions of the Poughkeepsie, Highland and New Paltz Traction Company against the Central New England Railroad Company and the O'Brien Construction Company, pending the appeal of the trolley company to the appelate division. These cases were both recently decided by Judge Chester in favor of the Central New England and the trolley company took an appeal. Both cases arise over the extension of the line of the Central New England in the town of Lloyd; the railroad desiring to place its tracks under the trolley company tracks and the latter objected. This has been the subject of considerable litigation having been in the courts since February.

Barmanns Won Two Prizes.

The Peter Barmann drum corps of this city won two prizes at the competition between corps of the New York State Fifers and Drummers' Association in Rhinebeck on Wednesday afternoon. The prizes were handsome cups. For the best playing corps without bugles the local boys captured the first prize and also that for best playing corps of any combination. The corps returned home early Wednesday jubilant over the fine showing made.

Viaduct Commission Meets.

The Washington avenue viaduct commission, Messrs. Hasbrouck, Duffy and Thompson, met this morning at the court house to continue taking the testimony in the claim of George Hutton, whose property is damaged by the building of the viaduct, but owing to the fact that Charles W. Walton, attorney for Mr. Hutton, had another engagement, the hearing was adjourned to this afternoon. In the meantime the members of the commission took the opportunity of viewing the property.

PANAMA ENGINEER VISITS THIS CITY

William [illegible] Mrs. J. S. Gibson, of Washington avenue. Mr. Darling is employed as a mechanical engineer on the Panama Canal construction. He and his mother left this city seven years ago for the Panama works. This is but the second time that he had been to the states, the first being in 1909. He expects to remain in the canal region for many years yet, even though the canal is practically ready for commercial use. Mr. Darling says that practically every man on the works is a staunch friend of Col. J. W. Goethals and expects to see him president of the United States before many years. In the work of constructing the canal many old relics and bones of sea fish were found by Mr. Darling and together with the many pictures that he has taken makes a very interesting collection. The chief sport of the men engaged on the construction is hunting or fishing. One time he went out with a party to hunt for tiger cats and became lost in the underbrush for three days, and was finally found by a party who were sent to hunt for him. Mr. Darling is very fond of Panama and will return on Wednesday, July 22.

ELKS' "GOAT" RESTORED.

Close Vote on the Proposition to Change the Ritual.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., July 16.—The grand lodge of Elks opened the third day of its golden jubilee here today with a grand parade through the down town streets.

The restoring of "the goat" to the ritual last night by a bare majority of ten was the most radical action taken at this convention. This was fought bitterly by all of the large cities.

The committee on state rights today decided upon a resolution giving the states wide power under referendum petition to the grand lodge. This practically gives each state control of its own affairs.

The real business of the reunion is expected to be finished by night.

THREE YACHTS BURNED.

Fifteen Firemen Overcome by Smoke in Ship Yard Fire.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—Fifteen firemen were overcome by smoke in a fire that destroyed three yachts and did $200,000 damage in the New York Yacht Launch and Engine Company ship yard on the Harlem early today. E. B. Towsley, Ernest Lorillard and R. E. Ods were the owners of the yachts destroyed. A number of other boats were towed out into the river before the flames reached them. Policemen had difficulty in saving about a hundred horses after the fire reached a nearby stable.

Owl Club Play a Success.

"Two Many Husbands," the play given in Grange Hall at Lake Katrine on Tuesday evening by the Owl Club, was a great success in every way. There was a large and delighted audience in attendance.

CONFERENCE ON DISTRIBUTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, July 16.—Judging from the character and number of acceptances to the invitation of Calvin J. Huson, state commissioner of agriculture, the conference at Utica, July 22 and 23, upon efficiency in the distribution of farm products will see a large and enthusiastic body of farmers, distributors and consumers in the city. Upwards of 500 invitations were sent out and already an attendance or 200 is indicated.

Included among those who have signified their intention of attending the sessions of the conference, as well as the dinner to be given at the Hotel Utica on the night of July 22, are prominent agriculturists from all sections of the state. Letters of acceptance show a real display of enthusiasm over the project and its success as a factor in making for the betterment of the farmers' interests seems already assured.

Among such may be mentioned Wing R. Smith of Syracuse, one of the largest breeders of Holstein cattle in the state; William H. Manning of Saratoga Springs, superintendent of the poultry department at the state fair and an extensive breeder of Leghorns; A. A. Avery of Walton, a large fruit raiser, and C. T. Hatch of Waterville, another raiser of poultry on an extensive scale.

Both ends of the dairy industry will be represented. John Y. Gerow of Washingtonville, head of the Dairymen's League, will be present and with him Alex Campbell and Erik Lagerquist of Brooklyn, two of the largest distributors of milk in Manhattan. T. B. Wilson and F. W. Godfrey, both members of the state senate, will represent the legislative interests of the state. Both men are practical farmers and Senator Godfrey is also connected with the purchasing agency of the state grange.

A number of those who have written Commissioner Huson they will be present are specialists along certain agricultural lines. Thus, the Rev. Brother Barnabas, director of the Lincoln Agricultural School at Lincolndale, will be present, as well as F. G. Helyar, director of the [illegible] largest organization of its kind in the east.

The granges will be well represented at the conference. W. H. Vary of Watertown, master, and W. N Giles of Skaneateles, secretary of the state grange, will both be at Utica. Edwin T. Gasler of Merrifield, a former member of the executive committee of the state grange, is to attend, as well as a large number of local grange officers throughout the state.

Many county farm bureau agents will be at the conference. M. C. Burritt of Ithaca, director of the farm bureau of the state, and practically every county agent in the state have signified their intention of being present. F. S. Welsh, agriculturist for the New York Central Railroad, will also attend.

Farmers' co-operative associations throughout the state will be represented at the conference. Among the organizations to send delegates are the Bedford Farmers' Co-Operative Association, of which the Hon. Seth Low is president; the South Shore Growers' and Shippers' Association of Silver Creek and the Citizens' Co-Operative Supply Company of Schenectady.

Letters to Commissioner Huson from those to whom invitations were sent display much enthusiasm over the idea. The plan of such a conference, while entirely new in this state, has shown far-reaching beneficial results when tried in the co-operative districts of Denmark and other European countries and Commissioner Huson believes that it needs but a start to get the farmers of this state as far along on the track to bigger profits.

Trip to Camp Anawana.

Mrs. Grove Webster, Jr., Mrs. Louis Beeres, Mrs. A. W. Thompson, Mrs. L. Kirchner, Mrs. A. C. Connelly and Mrs. Edward Weber motored this morning to Camp Anawana to visit the Y. M. C. A. boys in camp in one of George Schryver's big Packard touring cars. The ladies took the boys a number of goodies and returned this evening after an enjoyable day's outing.

Electrician Flick is Busy.

Michael R. Flick has completed installing the semi-indirect electric lighting system in the new building of G. Teichler on Broadway, opposite the armory. Mr. Flick has also finished the work on three of John Hudler's cottages on Stanley street and that of Charles J. Mullen on Lafayette avenue. He is now engaged on the house of William Hutton on Hasbrouck avenue.

Water Works For Forest Glen.

One of the largest water plants installed in this vicinity is the new plant at Forest Glen, which will supply several pretty cottages. The whole outfit is operated with a powerful pump and an 8 H. P. New Way air cooled gasoline engine, from the warehouse of the Canfield Supply Company.

Appointed a Patrolman.

Edward M. Joseph of Amsterdam, N. Y., formerly of High Falls, has been appointed as a first grade New York city patrolman at a salary of $1,400 per annum. Mr. Joseph was formerly a B. W. S. sergeant at Gardiner, N. Y.

CARRANZA WILL DO NO DICKERING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Saltillo, Mex., July 16.—General Carranza is willing to meet representatives of Provisional President Carbajal and accept from them the reins of government, but at the first intimation that efforts are being made to delay the final triumph of the revolution he will order the capture of the capital. No dickering, no treachery will be tolerated.

This position of the first chief of the Constitutionalists was made plain by his supporters today when they learned that Jesus Urueta, Enrique Mangel and Jose Noveto, Maderista deputies, had left the capital, supposedly to bring to Carranza proposals for the peaceful entry of the Constitutionalists into the capital.

According to information sent to Carranza by his agents, General Huerta carried with him from Mexico City drafts on Paris banks to the amount of $6,000,000.

WHITMAN ADDS TO ANANIAS CLUB

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—The membership rolls of the Ananias Club were thrown open for new names today. District Attorney Charles S. Whitman returned from Geneseo early in the day and immediately got to work on a statement replying to the attack made upon his last night by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. In his attack Roosevelt revealed the alleged letter in which Whitman was supposed to repudiate William Barnes, the Republican leader.

This document was supposed to have been drafted for Mr. Whitman's signature by Charles H. Duell, Jr., but Mr. Whitman repudiated it.

"I have never written any attack on Mr. Barnes," he said.

"I can't make this any clearer. I never heard of or saw the Duell letter before."

The district attorney said his statement [illegible] that he would have nothing [illegible] about it and don't see why I should [illegible] into this controversy," was [illegible] liam Barnes, Jr., would say.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN ST. PETERSBURG

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—One thousand troops were pressed into service as firemen today to fight the conflagration which is sweeping through the quarter of the city inhabited by working people. Two thousand persons are homeless and at least four persons have been killed. Scores of buildings have been burned.

The St. Petersburg fire is one of a series of conflagrations throughout the Russian empire. Huge tracts of forests and peat beds are in flames.

Special services are being held in churches where the priests and their congregations are praying daily for rain and for relief from the intense heat wave. The hot weather parched the forests, making the trees excellent fuel for the ensuing fires.

An ironical phase of the situation is that while the residents of threatened districts are praying for rain the Kuban river in Southeastern Russia is out of its banks causing much damage and suffering in that part of the empire.

INSPECTOR IN STORES.

Merchants Find the New Labor Law Affects Them.

John H. Price, one of the state inspectors for the department of labor, was in town on Wednesday and visited many of the uptown shops and stores. He said that his mission was not so much to find fault at this time as to inform the store and shop owners of the law that was in effect at the present day. He said that of course ignorance of the law is no excuse but that he wanted everyone to understand it. The law requires every employer to work his employes but six out of the seven days, and but fifty-four hours in any week and not more than nine hours a day. If more than nine hours are required in a day of any employe, this difference must be taken from the next day. Most of the stores are within the required number of hours per week but find it hard to keep within the nine hours every day, but they will have to make some plan for doing this.

Wilson Has Indigestion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson is suffering from an attack of indigestion and had to cancel all his engagements today. He did not visit the executive offices and remained in bed under the care of Dr. Cary T. Grayson. His trouble is not regarded as serious, however, and it is expected he will be able to resume his work tomorrow. The president attended a birthday dinner given by Secretary of the Interior Lane last night and shortly thereafter complained of sharp pains.

HUERTA RESIGNS AND LEAVES MEXICO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, July 16.—With Victoriano Huerta in flight, Francisco Carbajal installed in the National Palace as provisional president and heavy forces of troops and police on the alert to prevent disorder, tension in this city was acute today.

Soldiers patrolled the principal streets during the night to prevent any demonstration of violence led by the supporters of Huerta, but the hours of darkness passed quietly.

President Carbajal has taken office with a pledge to do his utmost to restore peace in Mexico and "Facilitate re-establishment of friendly relations with the United States."

Whether he will be successful depends upon the revolutionists. Many Madero leaders have already given their endorsement to Carbajal as provisional president. They will urge General Carranza to co-operate with him for a cessation of hostilities throughout the republic, but the success of their efforts is doubtful.

That the real crisis in Mexico is at hand is the general opinion here. What effect the resignation of Huerta will have upon the fate of foreigners cannot be forcasted, but there are strong fears among the foreigners that the Federal forces left without the iron hand that guided them in the futile efforts to halt the rushes of the Constitutionalist forces southward, will commit excesses that will shock the civilized world.

The resignation of Huerta was brought about by many months of patient work by members of the diplomatic corps here, particularly Sir Lionel Carden, British minister, and Senor Oliveira, the Brazilian envoy, but even they admit that the situation is fraught with peril.

The retirement of the dictator was the first step in the program of the diplomats. The next will be to induce Carranza to deal amicably with Carbajal for the establishment of a government that will hold office until an election can be held. For this they rely mainly upon the United States.

In the meantime all foreigners have been warned to avoid any action that might precipitate a reign of terror. In this city today Americans and other foreigners remained close to the concentration zones. They were advised to [illegible] streets as far as possible [illegible] the last two days [illegible] Vera Cruz. In these preparations were made for the sending of an international force of marines here in case such action became necessary.

It was to facilitate the bringing of marines to this city, if such action were found necessary, that the diplomats secured Huerta's order to repair the railroad line where it was broken west of Vera Cruz. Work on these repairs are already under way.

Though Huerta resigned late yesterday afternoon and departed from the capital before congress had accepted it, the news of his withdrawal did not reach all sections of the city until this morning. The news published in the morning papers was the first intimation received by thousands that the dictator had run his course.

Government affairs went on as usual at the various bureaus today. They were conducted by sub-secretaries, the cabinet ministers having tendered their resignation to President Carbajal. It is probable that some of the former ministers will be asked to retain office but the majority will be eliminated. Minister of War Blanquet left the capital with Huerta who was also accompanied by a large number of friends.

Going by automobile to Los Reyes, 16 miles from the capital, Huerta and his party boarded a train that had been in readiness there for many hours. Though it was stated at the National Palace today that Huerta's destination was unknown to the officials there, it was generally understood that he was on his way to Puerto Mexico to board the Dutch cruiser Kortenaer. Reports were in general circulation today that in Huerta's party was the commander of the Kortenaer, who recently came to the capital on a secret mission.

No credence was given to reports that Huerta and Blanquet had gone to Puebla to rally about them the troops still loyal and there fight to the death against the rebels. Huerta had often declared that he would die before surrendering to the revolutionists, but he had also often reiterated his intention of not resigning.

Members of the diplomatic corps believe that he will go to Europe and there pass the rest of his days. He has accumulated wealth in the year and five months that he has been president and practically all this wealth is deposited in European banks.

Bodley Out on Bail.

Fred Bodley, a boarder at the county hotel, was released this morning on furnishing bail of $500, by Judge Jenkins upon the application of Milton O. Auchmoody, attorney for Bodley. The young man was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree in stealing two valuable watches in Gardiner.

Rev. Mr. Berg to Preach.

The Rev. Irving H. Berg will preach on Sunday morning in the Fair Street Reformed Church. Dr. Berg is well-known in this city and a few years ago was extended a call by the First Reformed Church which he declined. At one time he was a pastor of a church in Catskill, but is now located at Hartford, Conn. He is spending the summer at Pine Hill.

DAUGHTER OF SLAIN FREEPORT WOMAN SUFFERS LOSS OF MOTHER.

(Miss Madeline Bailey)

The above is a new photograph of Miss Madeline Bailey, 16 year-old daughter of Mrs. Louise Bailey, the victim of the Freeport, L. I., tragedy, which has aroused nation wide interest. Miss Bailey testified before the grand jury which is hearing District Attorney Smith's plea for the indictment of Mrs. Florence Carman the alleged slayer, grief stricken over the death of her mother.

WHICH DIRECTION IS HUERTA HEADED?

Huerta, what?

This was the question asked on all sides today but no answer. Gen. Funston and his aides were on the alert for any news from the capital and all information that the American commander secured was immediately forwarded to Washington.

Whether Gen. Huerta had gone to Puerto Mexico or Salina Cruz, was headed for Vera Cruz or had decided to take the field against the rebels, was a riddle that dispatches received here failed to solve. The departure of British and Dutch ships for Puerto Mexico indicated that the dictator might board a foreign ship there, but there have been rumors current for weeks that if he left the capital he would go to Salina Cruz on the Pacific coast and there board the Japanese warship Idzumo.

Sailing of the Spanish steamer Alfonso XIII was postponed this morning until afternoon, leading to reports that she was being held until the arrival of General Huerta and his party from Mexico City. The steamer is going to Havana and will have as one of its passengers Esteva Ruiz, Huerta's former secretary of foreign affairs.

Stay Granted in Lloyd Cases.

On Wednesday afternoon Judge Cochrane at Hudson upon the application of Mayor Canfield of Brinnier & Canfield, granted a stay of judgment in the two actions of the Poughkeepsie, Highland and New Paltz Traction Company against the Central New England Railroad Company and the O'Brien Construction Company, pending the appeal of the trolley company to the appelate division. These cases were both recently decided by Judge Chester in favor of the Central New England and the trolley company took an appeal. Both cases arise over the extension of the line of the Central New England in the town of Lloyd; the railroad desiring to place its tracks under the trolley company tracks and the latter objected. This has been the subject of considerable litigation having been in the courts since February.

Barmanns Won Two Prizes.

The Peter Barmann drum corps of this city won two prizes at the competition between corps of the New York State Fifers and Drummers' Association in Rhinebeck on Wednesday afternoon. The prizes were handsome cups. For the best playing corps without bugles the local boys captured the first prize and also that for best playing corps of any combination. The corps returned home early Wednesday jubilant over the fine showing made.

Viaduct Commission Meets.

The Washington avenue viaduct commission, Messrs. Hasbrouck, Duffy and Thompson, met this morning at the court house to continue taking the testimony in the claim of George Hutton, whose property is damaged by the building of the viaduct, but owing to the fact that Charles W. Walton, attorney for Mr. Hutton, had another engagement, the hearing was adjourned to this afternoon. In the meantime the members of the commission took the opportunity of viewing the property.

PANAMA ENGINEER VISITS THIS CITY

Willi[illegible] Mrs. J. S. Gibson, of Washington [illegible]nue. Mr. Darling is employed as a mechanical engineer on the Panama Canal construction. He and his mother left this city seven years ago for the Panama works. This is but the second time that he had been to the states, the first being in 1909. He expects to remain in the canal region for many years yet, even though the canal is practically ready for commercial use. Mr. Darling says that practically every man on the works is a staunch friend of Col. J. W. Goethals and expects to see him president of the United States before many years. In the work of constructing the canal many old relics and bones of sea fish were found by Mr. Darling and together with the many pictures that he has taken makes a very interesting collection. The chief sport of the men engaged on the construction is hunting or fishing. One time he went out with a party to hunt for tiger cats and became lost in the underbrush for three days, and was finally found by a party who were sent to hunt for him. Mr. Darling is very fond of Panama and will return on Wednesday, July 22.

ELKS' "GOAT" RESTORED.

Close Vote on the Proposition to Change the Ritual.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., July 16.—The grand lodge of Elks opened the third day of its golden jubilee here today with a grand parade through the down town streets.

The restoring of "the goat" to the ritual last night by a bare majority of ten was the most radical action taken at this convention. This was fought bitterly by all of the large cities.

The committee on state rights today decided upon a resolution giving the states wide power under referendum petition to the grand lodge. This practically gives each state control of its own affairs.

The real business of the reunion is expected to be finished by night.

THREE YACHTS BURNED.

Fifteen Firemen Overcome by Smoke in Ship Yard Fire.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—Fifteen firemen were overcome by smoke in a fire that destroyed three yachts and did $200,000 damage in the New York Yacht Launch and Engi[illegible] Company ship yard on the Harlem early today. E. B. Towsley, Ernest Lorillard and R. E. Ods were the owners of the yachts destroyed. A number of other boats were towed out into the river before the flames reached them. Policemen had difficulty in saving about a hundred horses after the fire reached a nearby stable.

Owl Club Play a Success.

"Two Many Husbands," the play given in Grange Hall at Lake Katrine on Tuesday evening by the Owl Club, was a great success in every way. There was a large and delighted audience in attendance.

CONFERENCE ON DISTRIBUTION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, July 16.—Judging from the character and number of acceptances to the invitation of Calvin J. Huson, state commissioner of agriculture, the conference at Utica, July 22 and 23, upon efficiency in the distribution of farm products will see a large and enthusiastic body of farmers, distributors and consumers in the city. Upwards of 500 invitations were sent out and already an attendance of 200 is indicated.

Included among those who have signified their intention of attending the sessions of the conference, as well as the dinner to be given at the Hotel Utica on the night of July 22, are prominent agriculturists from all sections of the state. Letters of acceptance show a real display of enthusiasm over the project and its success as a factor in making for the betterment of the farmers' interests seems already assured.

Among such may be mentioned Wing R. Smith of Syracuse, one of the largest breeders of Holstein cattle in the state; William H. Manning of Saratoga Springs, superintendent of the poultry department at the state fair and an extensive breeder of Leghorns; A. A. Avery of Walton, a large fruit raiser, and C. T. Hatch of Waterville, another raiser of poultry on an extensive scale.

Both ends of the dairy industry will be represented. John Y. Gerow of Washingtonville, head of the Dairymen's League, will be present and with him Alex Campbell and Erik Lagerquist of Brooklyn, two of the largest distributors of milk in Manhattan. T. B. Wilson and F. W. Godfrey, both members of the state senate, will represent the legislative interests of the state. Both men are practical farmers and Senator Godfrey is also connected with the purchasing agency of the state grange.

A number of those who have written Commissioner Huson they will be present are specialists along certain agricultural lines. Thus, the Rev. Brother Barnabas, director of the Lincoln Agricultural School at Lincolndale, will be present, as well as F. G. Helyar, director of the [illegible] its kind in the east.

The granges will be well represented at the conference. W. H. Vary of Watertown, master, and W. N Giles of Skaneateles, secretary of the state grange, will both be at Utica. Edwin T. Gasler of Merrifield, a former member of the executive committee of the state grange, is to attend, as well as a large number of local grange officers throughout the state.

Many county farm bureau agents will be at the conference. M. C. Burritt of Ithaca, director of the farm bureau of the state, and practically every county agent in the state have signified their intention of being present. F. S. Welsh, agriculturist for the New York Central Railroad, will also attend.

Farmers' co-operative associations throughout the state will be represented at the conference. Among the organizations to send delegates are the Bedford Farmers' Co-Operative Association, of which the Hon. Seth Low is president; the South Shore Growers' and Shippers' Association of Silver Creek and the Citizens' Co-Operative Supply Company of Schenectady.

Letters to Commissioner Huson from those to whom invitations were sent display much enthusiasm over the idea. The plan of such a conference, while entirely new in this state, has shown far-reaching beneficial results when tried in the co-operative districts of Denmark and other European countries and Commissioner Huson believes that it needs but a start to get the farmers of this state as far along on the track to bigger profits.

Trip to Camp Anawana.

Mrs. Grove Webster, Jr., Mrs. Louis Beeres, Mrs. A. W. Thompson, Mrs. L. Kirchner, Mrs. A. C. Connelly and Mrs. Edward Weber motored this morning to Camp Anawana to visit the Y. M. C. A. boys in camp in one of George Schryver's big Packard touring cars. The ladies took the boys a number of goodies and returned this evening after an enjoyable day's outing.

Electrician Flick is Busy.

Michael R. Flick has completed installing the semi-indirect electric lighting system in the new building of G. Teichler on Broadway, opposite the armory. Mr. Flick has also finished the work on three of John Hudler's cottages on Stanley street and that of Charles J. Mullen on Lafayette avenue. He is now engaged on the house of William Hutton on Hasbrouck avenue.

Water Works For Forest Glen.

One of the largest water plants installed in this vicinity is the new plant at Forest Glen, which will supply several pretty cottages. The whole outfit is operated with a powerful pump and an 8 H. P. New Way air cooled gasoline engine, from the warehouse of the Canfield Supply Company.

Appointed a Patrolman.

Edward M. Joseph of Amsterdam, N. Y., formerly of High Falls, has been appointed as a first grade New York city patrolman at a salary of $1,400 per annum. Mr. Joseph was formerly a B. W. S. sergeant at Gardiner, N. Y.

CARRANZA WILL DO NO DICKERING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Saltillo, Mex., July 16.—General Carranza is willing to meet representatives of Provisional President Carbajal and accept from them the reins of government, but at the first intimation that efforts are being made to delay the final triumph of the revolution he will order the capture of the capital. No dickering, no treachery will be tolerated.

This position of the first chief of the Constitutionalists was made plain by his supporters today when they learned that Jesus Urueta, Enrique Mangel and Jose Noveto, Maderista deputies, had left the capital, supposedly to bring to Carranza proposals for the peaceful entry of the Constitutionalists into the capital.

According to information sent to Carranza by his agents, General Huerta carried with him from Mexico City drafts on Paris banks to the amount of $6,000,000.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—The membership rolls of the Ananias Club were thrown open for new names today. District Attorney Charles S. Whitman returned from Geneseo early in the day and immediately got to work on a statement replying to the attack made upon his last night by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. In his attack Roosevelt revealed the alleged letter in which Whitman was supposed to repudiate William Barnes, the Republican leader.

This document was supposed to have been drafted for Mr. Whitman's signature by Charles H. Duell, Jr., but Mr. Whitman repudiated it.

"I have never written any attack on Mr. Barnes," he said.

"I can't make this any clearer. I never heard of or saw the Duell letter before."

The district attorney said his statement [illegible] that he would not be drawn into the controversy," and don't see why I should be drawn into this controversy," was [illegible] liam Barnes, Jr., would say.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN ST. PETERSBURG

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

St. Petersburg, July 16.—One thousand troops were pressed into service as firemen today to fight the conflagration which is sweeping through the quarter of the city inhabited by working people. Two thousand persons are nomeless and at least four persons have been killed. Scores of buildings have been burned.

The St. Petersburg fire is one of a series of conflagrations throughout the Russian empire. Huge tracts of forests and peat beds are in flames.

Special services are being held in churches where the priests and their congregations are praying daily for rain and for relief from the intense heat wave. The hot weather parched the forests, making the trees excellent fuel for the ensuing fires.

An ironical phase of the situation is that while the residents of threatened districts are praying for rain the Kuban river in Southeastern Russia is out of its banks causing much damage and suffering in that part of the empire.

INSPECTOR IN STORES.

Merchants Find the New Labor Law Affects Them.

John H. Price, one of the state inspectors for the department of labor, was in town on Wednesday and visited many of the uptown shops and stores. He said that his mission was not so much to find fault at this time as to inform the store and shop owners of the law that was in effect at the present day. He said that of course ignorance of the law is no excuse but that he wanted everyone to understand it. The law requires every employer to work his employes but six out of the seven days, and but fifty-four hours in any week and not more than nine hours a day. If more than nine hours are required in a day of any employe, this difference must be taken from the next day. Most of the stores are within the required number of hours per week but find it hard to keep within the nine hours every day, but they will have to make some plan for doing this.

Wilson Has Indigestion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson is suffering from an attack of indigestion and had to cancel all his engagements today. He did not visit the executive offices and remained in bed under the care of Dr. Cary T. Grayson. His trouble is not regarded as serious, however, and it is expected he will be able to resume his work tomorrow. The president attended a birthday dinner given by Secretary of the Interior Lane last night and shortly thereafter complained of sharp pains.

CHICAGO FEDS HAVE NEW KEYSTONE KING

Johnny Farrell, Clever Little Second Sacker.

Chicago has a new keystone king, and his name is John. No, Evers has not joined thb "come back" class. The new King, John the Second, is none other than Johnny Farrell, the clever little second sacker who is creating a sensation in the Federal league.

When Joe Tinker jumped last winter and took charge of the Chicago Federal league club he did not have to look far for a second baseman. He gave Farrell's record the once over and was quick to make a decision.

Joe's judgment was good, for Farrell has proved the wonder of the league, and there is not another infielder in the league, veterans included, who has anything on the Chicago lad.

Tinker to Farrell to Beck, that's the by-word at Weeghman park.

little Johnny doing the pivot work it's some play.

John is fast on grounders, and his little stunt of making a throw to first while on a dead run is a corker.

Farrell plays the ball. He does not wait for it to play him. It is seldom he bobbles and he is quick in recovery.

What's more, Tinker's star second sacker is a quick thinker, seldom losing his noodle. John is only twenty-one years old, and is learning every day, and he is one of the few youngsters who is always glad to be told.

With the willow John is consistent. He is fast at running out bunts and he bunts when the pitcher is least expecting it.

Keep your eye on young Johnny Farrell.

OLD CUB MACHINE IS BROKEN

Frank Schulte Is Only Member of Team That Thrilled Thousands With Wonderful Plays.

(By FRANK G. MENKE.)

The old Cub machine, once the mightiest in baseball, has been broken, never again to be mended. Of the grand old gang that thrilled thousands with their wonderful team work in the old days, while working under the Cub standard, only one still wears the Cub uniform, and he, Frank Schulte, is slipping fast.

Chance, Tinker and Evers, that wonderful double-play combination, is scattered in three different leagues, Chance managing the New York Yankees and Tinker is holding a like job for the Chicago Feds, while Evers is cavorting around the keystone sack for the Boston Nationals.

Frank Schulte.

Miner Brown is managing the St. Louis Feds, Jack Pfeister is farming in Ohio, Overall is on the coast in semi-retirement, and Johnny Kling has quit the game for all time. Jimmy Scheckard is in the American association. Artie Hofman is with the Feds, and Jimmy Slagle and Steinfeldt have passed out of the game forever.

Cardinals Pick Up Star.

The St. Louis Cardinals have picked up one of the finest young infielders in the game in Zib Beck.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Ty Cobb is gradually working his way to the top among the American League sluggers.

Larry Doyle, captain of the champions, thinks very well of the Cardinals' pitching staff.

Manager McGraw has become enthusiastic over Milton Stock and declares him the equal of Devlin when Devlin was at his best.

Martin O'Toole, Pittsburgh's $22,500 beauty pitcher purchased from St. Paul, declares he has no fear of dying in a minor league berth.

Russell Ford, Buffalo's marvelous pitching machine, has gone on record as favoring Johnny Farrell in the argument as to leading second sackers.

Joe Riggert, Brooklyn outfielder, who was snapped up by the Cards when the Dodgers asked for waivers, is a Kansas City barber in the off months.

Sherwood Magee has been doing well at short field for the Phillies, but Manager Dooin would prefer a man who is fleeter of foot than the Phillies' slugger.

Ban Johnson will have to hire a few more lawyers in order to get injunctions enough to prevent the Feds landing some of his players before the end of this season.

Now that Cactus Cravath of the Phillies has formed the habit of stealing home, about the only thing left in baseball for him to master is to learn how to hit a pop fly.

The attendance at the Polo grounds this year has not fallen off, so there does not seem to be any truth in reports that this is a bad year for the pastime so far as New York is concerned.

CHICAGO HEIRESS ON HONEYMOON WITH BOXER.

Above—Mrs. Packey McFarland, nee Margaret Loughran. Below—Packey McFarland.

Chicago, July 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Packey McFarland are on their way to California after having been quietly married at St. Mary's Church in this city. From San Francisco they will sail, on a trip around the world. Mrs. McFarland was formerly Miss Margaret Loughran, daughter of the late M. F. Loughran, wealthy brewer and banker of Joliet, Ill. Packey expects to give his wife as a wedding present the world's lightweight championship title, which he expects to gain from Freddie Welsh. A few days before he was married the challenge was forwarded to Welsh. In two previous encounters McFarland has defeated Welsh.

CHICAGO FEDS HAVE NEW KEYSTONE KING

Johnny Farrell, Clever Little Second Sacker.

Chicago has a new keystone king, and his name is John. No, Evers has not joined the "come back" class. The new King, John the Second, is none other than Johnny Farrell, the clever little second sacker who is creating a sensation in the Federal league.

When Joe Tinker jumped last winter and took charge of the Chicago Federal league club he did not have to look far for a second baseman. He gave Farrell's record the once over and was quick to make a decision.

Joe's judgment was good, for Farrell has proved the wonder of the league, and there is not another infielder in the league, veterans included, who has anything on the Chicago lad.

Tinker to Farrell to Beck, that's the by-word at Weeghman park [illegible]

little Johnny doing the pivot work it's some play.

John is fast on grounders, and his little stunt of making a throw to first while on a dead run is a corker.

Farrell plays the ball. He does not wait for it to play him. It is seldom he bobbles and he is quick in recovery.

What's more, Tinker's star second sacker is a quick thinker, seldom losing his noodle. John is only twenty-one years old, and is learning every day, and he is one of the few youngsters who is always glad to be told.

With the willow John is consistent. He is fast at running out bunts and he bunts when the pitcher is least expecting it.

Keep your eye on young Johnny Farrell.

Frank Schulte Is Only Member of Team That Thrilled Thousands With Wonderful Plays.

(By FRANK G. MENKE.)

The old Cub machine, once the mightiest in baseball, has been broken, never again to be mended. Of the grand old gang that thrilled thousands with their wonderful team work in the old days, while working under the Cub standard, only one still wears the Cub uniform, and he, Frank Schulte, is slipping fast.

Chance, Tinker and Evers, that wonderful double-play combination, is scattered in three different leagues, Chance managing the New York Yankees and Tinker is holding a like job for the Chicago Feds, while Evers is cavorting around the keystone sack for the Boston Nationals.

Frank Schulte.

Miner Brown is managing the St. Louis Feds, Jack Pfeister is farming in Ohio, Overall is on the coast in semi-retirement, and Johnny Kling has quit the game for all time. Jimmy Scheckard is in the American association. Artie Hofman is with the Feds, and Jimmy Slagle and Steinfeldt have passed out of the game forever.

Cardinals Pick Up Star.

The St. Louis Cardinals have picked up one of the finest young infielders in the game in Zib Beck.

Notes of the DIAMOND

Ty Cobb is gradually working his way to the top among the American League sluggers.

Larry Doyle, captain of the champions, thinks very well of the Cardinals' pitching staff.

Manager McGraw has become enthusiastic over Milton Stock and declares him the equal of Devlin when Devlin was at his best.

Martin O'Toole, Pittsburgh's $22,500 beauty pitcher purchased from St. Paul, declares he has no fear of dying in a minor league berth.

Russell Ford, Buffalo's marvelous pitching machine, has gone on record as favoring Johnny Farrell in the argument as to leading second sackers.

Joe Riggert, Brooklyn outfielder, who was snapped up by the Cards when the Dodgers asked for waivers, is a Kansas City barber in the off months.

Sherwood Magee has been doing well at short field for the Phillies, but Manager Dooin would prefer a man who is fleeter of foot than the Phillies' slugger.

Ban Johnson will have to hire a few more lawyers in order to get injunctions enough to prevent the Feds landing some of his players before the end of this season.

Now that Cactus Cravath of the Phillies has formed the habit of stealing home, about the only thing left in baseball for him to master is to learn how to hit a pop fly.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 16, 1914.

Market reports show that the price of beef is now considerably higher than it ever was before in this country. The increase this week to the butchers is three-fourths of a cent a pound, which is increased to two or three cents by the time it gets to the consumer. The new tariff was advertised to reduce prices by letting in foreign meats free of duty, but nothing has come of it. Imports are being made regularly from South America, but the meat is not so good as the home brand and they have had no effect in regulating prices. If there is anybody who still thinks that the cost of living can be reduced by destroying protective tariffs he can get a job to exhibit himself in a museum.

The fact that New Yorkers are beginning to realize the perils inherent in the skyscraper type of building was discussed yesterday at the meeting of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers in Duluth. It was predicted by an officer of the National Fire Protection Association, who made an address, that steps would soon be taken to limit the height of buildings. It is not hard to imagine what would happen in case of an earthquake or of a conflagration in the skyscraper district. Panics which have previously occurred would be dwarfed by comparison. Nothing is more certain than that the metropolis will continue to grow, and if it stops building higher it must necessarily spread laterally with greater rapidity. The natural effect of this will be to make it more convenient for many establishments to remove to smaller cities, and eventually Kingston and other towns within a hundred miles of New York tions.

A curious and insidious undermining of the state hospital system appears to be in progress in different parts of the state, and the fine administrative work accomplished by successive lunacy commissioners during the past quarter century, from Dr. Carlos MacDonald and Goodwin Brown down to William Church Osborn, Colonel Cary Sanger, Herbert P. Bissell and Dr. James V. May, bids fair to come to naught. Certain malign influences first observed during the Sulzer regime appear to dominate the situation. Advantage has been taken of trivial lapses in the internal administration of the hospitals for the insane and with the aid of inspired newspaper articles the enemies of the supervising commission and of the local boards of managers apparently plan an entire breaking up of the present system and a far greater control of appointments and expenditures than ever before. No department of the state government has been freer from scandals than the State Lunacy Commission, now the State Hospital Commission, and the taxpayers have felt that their support of the institutions for the insane has been fully justified. The work of the sappers and miners will need the closest scrutiny if the high standards of care of the unfortunate insane are to be maintained.

If Mexico were a civilized country it could not easily find a better man for President than Francisco Carbajal, who has succeeded to that office because of the resignation of Huerta. He is an able statesman and a lover of peace, but these qualities count for little in a land where ignorance is dominant and brute force is considered the main thing. Villa has already declared that the war will proceed, and he will probably soon be in possession of the capital. The United States Government is now in a more embarrassing position than ever. Since it refused to recognize Huerta, it cannot consistently recognize the man whom he appointed as his successor. On the other hand, since its ground of hostility to Huerta was that he connived at murder, how can it recognize Villa or his puppet Carranza after the Constitutionalists capture Mexico City by means of what will virtually be wholesale murder? If our Government does nothing, Mexico is in for a reign of terror for human life and confiscation of property worse than anything which occurred under Spanish rule in Cuba. In any event, the killing of our marines and soldiers at Vera Cruz has resulted in no benefit. The "insult" to our flag has not been wiped out. The lot of the common people of Mexico has not been ameliorated. We have been made the joke of the diplomatic world.

HIS SENTENCE.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

A young man, rather much the worse for the wear and tear that come with long and deep draughts from the cup that inebriates, recently awaited sentence from a judge in New Jersey and what do you suppose were the words he heard?

That rag-tag specimen of humanity who drifted to court once too often was told that he drank too much and that his greatest need was a wife to take care of him! He was solemnly and impressively assured by the solicitous judge that if he was not married within 30 days he would be brought back to court again.

Naturally enough, the offender willingly agreed to the proposition and after being compelled to pledge himself for a year he was sent on his wife-searching way, convinced, quite likely, that somewhere on this big footstool is a woman just waiting to drag him back from his ruin.

But alas for the maiden! And alas and alas for the wisdom of the judge! He must be a veritable woman-hater to sentence any "lone, lorn female" to a Herculean task like that. Has not his experience at the bar and on the bench taught him that, as life runs, the miracle-working woman is just an interesting and a very romantic tradition? And have not his years in the big school of every day life made him know that love plays a very small part in the regeneration of a weak or a vicious man? But then the judge said not a word about love, he only advised the human dereilct to look for a guardian angel, and one willing to take a desperate chance, in order to reclaim a man headed straight for the port of self-destruction.

And he had little regard for the woman and her life-long sentence.

From time immemorial, there always has been the woman, who has fondly flattered herself into believing that the magic of her influence her love and all that would be sufficient to lure a man back almost from the depths of wrong-doing. She has deluded herself into the hope that a man whose sef-respect is not strong enough to make him win out in the struggle against his worst weaknesses will turn square about to please another person and will never turn back.

And once in a very great while, her h[illegible] tage, [illegible] some New Paltz village, and opposite [illegible] ston to the glad fact that back of the poor showing he was made, back of the vice that has come to the fore is a streak of dormant strength and a goodly bit of slumbering self-respect.

But it is a step that is heavily fraught with dangers, fatally fraught when it happens that a woman's influence is all that stands between a man and his ruin. Not that one is not glad, and perhaps a bit proud as well, to observe that a whole-souled woman, true to herself and to the world, often has been potent to keep a man in the straight and narrow way when he has been minded to wander afar, but there also must be some stirrings that come from within, or the miracle will never develop.

And surely something is missing in the way of personal force when a young man who "drinks too much" and needs the restraining hand of a wife to guide him back where he belongs.

Probably the judge was not serious so far as his counsel concerning a wife was concerned, but he might better have warned him to go forth in the world and make himself fit to take care of a wife before ever he thought of throwing himself upon the tender mercies of any woman to make him over into the semblance of a self-respecting man.

Because when failure follows an effort like that—and it generally comes in time—there's more than one and more than two to be caught in its wretched toils.

And if there ought to be schools, lecture halls and a few places more to teach young men the beauty and the honor of maintaining their self-respect, young women should be so insistently taught the practical truth that it is a hazardous thing to undertake the care of any human being who has passed well on into manhood without learning how to take care of himself in ways that betray his character.

When a woman stumbles into a marriage that calls for perpetual sacrifice and unremitting zeal to keep an errant somebody from going astray, it is very brave, very strong and self-effacing to be equal to the task and to do what the somebody is unwilling or unable to do for himself.

But to go into it with eyes wide open and with nothing but faith to carry the struggle along—that's a queer and generally a fruitless sort of martyrdom. For the woman who hopes for regeneration in the man of her choosing should remember that unless the raw material is good she is setting herself a well-nigh impossible task when she throws herself and her all at his feet in the hope of making weakness turn into strength through the magic force of love.

As things go in a world where women have been mightily helped to be morally stronger and truer than men, it is an undoubted fact that a woman endowed with the gentler graces and with a purpose looking to honor does let a bit of her own wholesome light reach out to men who happen to be traveling her way. And perhaps it is not too much to say that it is only the few men unswerving themselves, who are not the better and the truer by reason of association with a woman of fine moral fiber. And it is beautiful in its way, and an occasion for lasting pride, when a friend, a wife, a mother, a sister exerts an influence that tends to keep any man from manifold ills.

But, you see, there must be good timber there, else the influence would be lost on the way. It is all very well for the judge to advise the offending young man to seek a wife to keep him on the safe and sane side, but as a risk "for better or worse," one would advise that shadowy young woman to go very slow.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, July 16.—Samuel B. Wylie is holding an exhibition of his paintings in the studio from the 13th to the 17th of July. He has on exhibition about forty paintings ranging in price from $10 to $150. Mr. Wylie has been a student of this art school for two years and is now working independently. Two years ago he took the second prize awarded by the Art League for superiority. He also won the only scholarship the league offers. Of the paintings on exhibition by Mr. Wylie this may be said, which cannot be said of many paintings, they are surprisingly realistic. His fault is he makes them look like nature. The New York Art League holds two exhibitions of its work done in the Woodstock summer school. One is held in Woodstock during the summer season and the other is held in the Fine Arts building in New York during the winter. The prizes given are $75, $50, $25.

John Folinsbee, who held an exhibition of his work a week ago, took the first prize at the winter exhibition in New York last year.

The following is a list of exhibitions to be held in the studio in the near future:

Mr. Ross, July 20-24.
Mr. Chase, July 27-31.
Mr. Cochran, August 3-7.
Mr. Murray, August 10-15.
Mr. Flemming, August 19-24.

There is rumor afloat that should the number of students in the Art League school fall off on account of the high cost of living and the high rate of rent for studies, the school will be moved elsewhere.

There was a good attendance at the woman's suffrage meeting one day last week and it is rumored that $50 was raised for the cause.

The Saugerties Business Men's Association is interested in the "Chautauqua" they are to give for July 17-23 They are to give a grand band concert in front of the Irvington Hotel Wednesday evening. A speaker will address the meeting in the interest of "Chautauqua Week."

Willard Allen is constructing a fine residence on the bluff above George Neher's. Myron Cashdollar is doing the work of laying the foundation and George Neher is to build the house.

The Rev. Mr. DeMeras of Vineland, N. J., has been stopping in town for a few days. He expects to come back later.

The Rev. Mr. Sutherland preached in the M. E. Church last Sunday morning.

Matte for Sympathy.

Mme. Sara Bernhardt's reappearance in Londo has revived a number of stories tol[illegible] of her wit, says Pearson's Weekly.

During one of her American tours a journalist attached to a New York newspaper obtained an interview with her. He was a very offensive person, even more pushful and impertinent than the average American reporter seems to be, and he immediately began to ask some very intimate and personal questions.

At last Mme. Bernhardt found it absolutely necessary to refuse to reply, and then, finding that his victim flatly refused to be drawn into making indiscreet replies, the man began to get irritated.

"But you must answer my questions," he protested. "You don't seem to understand, madam, I am a reporter."

With her sweetest smile, and in her most sympathetic tones, the actress replied: "I'm so sorry."

Woman's Highest Ambition.

Ex-Senator Joseph C. S. Blackburn, a member of the Lincoln Memorial Commission, was one of the best talkers in the senate when he represented in that body his native state of Kentucky.

In these strenuous times of "militants," parades and similar evidences of the day's uplift, it is timely to recall a remark made by Mr. Blackburn back in the old days when cable cars ran on Pennsylvania avenue and no one had ever seen a flying machine or a motor car.

One day Blackburn was gathered with a choice few of his friends of both sexes—friends from the Blue Grass State. The discussion turned on the horses and then on the state's next famous product—its women. It was in the days when curly "bangs" were worn and every woman had a fringe around her forehead and Blackburn knew the amount of trouble every woman took to keep her hair arranged.

Every man expressed his opinion as to what the fair sex desired to be happy. And, of course, no two agreed. Blackburn did not speak for a long time, pondering the question seriously.

"Well, gentlemen," he said at last, solemnly, "I think I have the true solution to the problem. The height of every woman's ambition is to be a rich widow with curly hair."—Washington Post.

Not a Pleasure Trip.

Senator Borah, discussing his thrilling correspondence with George W. Perkins, said of one incident:

"Here, I must confess, Mr. Perkins put his case awkwardly. He reminded me of Blanc.

"'Hello, Blanc!' said a man on the limited. 'Off for New York, eh? Is it a pleasure trip?'

"'No,' said Blanc. 'It's just to bring the missus home.'"—New York Press.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, July 16.—Last Saturday Haywood Van Wagenen was thrown off a motor cycle. Not being hurt and his courage undaunted, he made another attempt. He was thrown off the second time but was not so fortunate as at first. He received quite a severe wound on his head, but is doing nicely at this writing.

Mrs. Coddington is spending some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Sheeley.

Mrs. William Smith and child have gone to New York city, where they are to spend a month at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Smith.

Rev. E. O. Schwitter and his wife came Monday. They were met at the day boat by Thomas Snyder and J. M. Barnhart with an automobile. When they arrived at the parsonage they were most cordially welcomed by the wives of the consistory, Mrs. Thomas Snyder, Mrs. Philip Hasbrouck and Mrs. Mower Barnhart. These ladies served dinner at the parsonage, which was fully appreciated by Rev. and Mrs. Schwitter. The ladies of the church also thoroughly cleaned the parsonage, papered, painted and made everything ready for their arrival. In the evening the boys game them a skimmington. They certainly received a royal welcome.

George Van Wagenen mowed the lawn of Arthur Church on Monday.

A party from The Clove went to Kingston on Monday. They walked down to the station to take the nine o'clock train. They returned on the five o'clock train. They certainly must have been tired after the day's outing.

Lacy Van Wagenen fell from the hay mow of Preston Church 's barn on Monday and sprained his arm.

Raspberries are quite plentiful near shaft eight. A number of people from the village have gone up there and have been very successful coming back with their pails full of berries.

John Krom was employed by James Freer on Tuesday to mow his hay.

Miss Florence Ghear has returned to Atlantic City.

Moving pictures are shown in John Krom's hall every Monday. Wednesday and Saturday evenings. The pictures are good and well attended. Ten cents admission.

Mr. and Mrs. James Freer and their summer guest, Mrs. Nichols, called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hardenberg on Sunday afternoon.

Most of the farmers are now gathering in their crops. The hum of the mower reaper is a pleasant sound as it falls upon the ear.

KRIPPLEBUSH.

Kripplebush, July 16.—The following have been elected officers of Kripplebush Council, No. 39, for the ensuing year: George C. Roosa, councilor; Jesse J. Christiana, vice councilor; Grover C. Smith, recording secretary; Peter S. Roosa, assistant recording secretary; John E. Gordon, financial secretary; Uriah Connor, treasurer; Joseph Pratt, Jr., conductor; Millard Van Aken, warden; Ernest Christiana, inside sentinel; Lewis Durham, outside sentinel, and Roscoe Lockwood, chaplain.

Friends of Lemuel Bogart, who wish to sign his petition for the purpose of putting his name on the primary ballot as a candidate for sheriff, may do so at the office of Oscar Church, High Falls, N. Y. Sidney Myer, Marbletown, N. Y., and Jesse J. Christiana, Kripplebush, N. Y. All enrolled Republicans can sign the petition and all are urged to do so, as we want a sheriff from Marbletown; and everybody knows Bogart, if elected, will make good. So get busy and nominate him.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 16, 1914.

Market reports show that the price of beef is now considerably higher than it ever was before in this country. The increase this week to the butchers is three-fourths of a cent a pound, which is increased to two or three cents by the time it gets to the consumer. The new tariff was advertised to reduce prices by letting in foreign meats free of duty, but nothing has come of it. Imports are being made regularly from South America, but the meat is not so good as the home brand and they have had no effect in regulating prices. If there is anybody who still thinks that the cost of living can be reduced by destroying protective tariffs he can get a job to exhibit himself in a museum.

The fact that New Yorkers are beginning to realize the perils inherent in the skyscraper type of building was discussed yesterday at the meeting of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers in Duluth. It was predicted by an officer of the National Fire Protection Association, who made an address, that steps would soon be taken to limit the height of buildings. It is not hard to imagine what would happen in case of an earthquake or of a conflagration in the skyscraper district. Panics which have previously occurred would be dwarfed by comparison. Nothing is more certain than that the metropolis will continue to grow, and if it stops building higher it must necessarily spread laterally with greater rapidity. The natural effect of this will be to make it more convenient for many establishments to remove to smaller cities, and eventually Kingston and other towns within a hundred miles of New York [illegible]

FURNITURE, CARPETS,

A curious and insidious undermining of the state hospital system appears to be in progress in different parts of the state, and the fine administrative work accomplished by successive lunacy commissioners during the past quarter century, from Dr. Carlos MacDonald and Goodwin Brown down to William Church Osborn, Colonel Cary Sanger, Herbert P. Bissell and Dr. James V. May, bids fair to come to naught. Certain malign influences first observed during the Sulzer regime appear to dominate the situation. Advantage has been taken of trivial lapses in the internal administration of the hospitals for the insane and with the aid of inspired newspaper articles the enemies of the supervising commission and of the local boards of managers apparently plan an entire breaking up of the present system and a far greater control of appointments and expenditures than ever before. No department of the state government has been freer from scandals than the State Lunacy Commission, now the State Hospital Commission, and the taxpayers have felt that their support of the institutions for the insane has been fully justified. The work of the sappers and miners will need the closest scrutiny if the high standards of care of the unfortunate insane are to be maintained.

If Mexico were a civilized country it could not easily find a better man for President than Francisco Carbajal, who has succeeded to that office because of the resignation of Huerta. He is an able statesman and a lover of peace, but these qualities count for little in a land where ignorance is dominant and brute force is considered the main thing. Villa has already declared that the war will proceed, and he will probably soon be in possession of the capital. The United States Government is now in a more embarrassing position than ever. Since it refused to recognize Huerta, it cannot consistently recognize the man whom he appointed as his successor. On the other hand, since its ground of hostility to Huerta was that he connived at murder, how can it recognize Villa or his puppet Carranza after the Constitutionalists capture Mexico City by means of what will virtually be wholesale murder? If our Government does nothing, Mexico is in for a reign of terror for human life and confiscation of property worse than anything which occurred under Spanish rule in Cuba. In any event, the killing of our marines and soldiers at Vera Cruz has resulted in no benefit. The "insult" to our flag has not been wiped out. The lot of the common people of Mexico has not been ameliorated. We have been made the joke of the diplomatic world.

HIS SENTENCE.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

A young man, rather much the worse for the wear and tear that come with long and deep draughts from the cup that inebriates, recently awaited sentence from a judge in New Jersey and what do you suppose were the words he heard?

That rag-tag specimen of humanity who drifted to court once too often was told that he drank too much and that his greatest need was a wife to take care of him! He was solemnly and impressively assured by the solicitous judge that if he was not married within 30 days he would be brought back to court again.

Naturally enough, the offender willingly agreed to the proposition and after being compelled to pledge himself for a year he was sent on his wife-searching way, convinced, quite likely, that somewhere on this big footstool is a woman just waiting to drag him back from his ruin.

But alas for the maiden! And alas and alas for the wisdom of the judge! He must be a veritable woman-hater to sentence any "lone, lorn female" to a Herculean task like that. Has not his experience at the bar and on the bench taught him that, as life runs, the miracle-working woman is just an interesting and a very romantic tradition? And have not his years in the big school of every day life made him know that love plays a very small part in the regeneration of a weak or a vicious man? But then the judge said not a word about love, he only advised the human dereilct to look for a guardian angel, and one willing to take a desperate chance, in order to reclaim a man headed straight for the port of self-destruction.

And he had little regard for the woman and her life-long sentence.

From time immemorial, there always has been the woman, who has fondly flattered herself into believing that the magic of her influence her love and all that would be sufficient to lure a man back almost from the depths of wrong-doing. She has deluded herself into the hope that a man whose sef-respect is not strong enough to make him win out in the struggle against his worst weaknesses will turn square about to please another person and will never turn back.

And once in a very great while, [illegible] to the glad fact that back of the poor showing he was made, back of the vice that has come to the fore is a streak of dormant strength and a goodly bit of slumbering self-respect.

But it is a step that is heavily fraught with dangers, fatally fraught when it happens that a woman's influence is all that stands between a man and his ruin. Not that one is not glad, and perhaps a bit proud as well, to observe that a whole-souled woman, true to herself and to the world, often has been potent to keep a man in the straight and narrow way when he has been minded to wander afar, but there also must be some stirrings that come from within, or the miracle will never develop.

And surely something is missing in the way of personal force when a young man who "drinks too much" and needs the restraining hand of a wife to guide him back where he belongs.

Probably the judge was not serious so far as his counsel concerning a wife was concerned, but he might better have warned him to go forth in the world and make himself fit to take care of a wife before ever he thought of throwing himself upon the tender mercies of any woman to make him over into the semblance of a self-respecting man.

Because when failure follows an effort like that—and it generally comes in time—there's more than one and more than two to be caught in its wretched toils.

And if there ought to be schools, lecture halls and a few places more to teach young men the beauty and the honor of maintaining their self-respect, young women should be so insistently taught the practical truth that it is a hazardous thing to undertake the care of any human being who has passed well on into manhood without learning how to take care of himself in ways that betray his character.

When a woman stumbles into a marriage that calls for perpetual sacrifice and unremitting zeal to keep an errant somebody from going astray, it is very brave, very strong and self-effacing to be equal to the task and to do what the somebody is unwilling or unable to do for himself.

But to go into it with eyes wide open and with nothing but faith to carry the struggle along—that's a queer and generally a fruitless sort of martyrdom. For the woman who hopes for regeneration in the man of her choosing should remember that unless the raw material is good she is setting herself a well-nigh impossible task when she throws herself and her all at his feet in the hope of making weakness turn into strength through the magic force of love.

As things go in a world where women have been mightily helped to be morally stronger and truer than men, it is an undoubted fact that a woman endowed with the gentler graces and with a purpose looking to honor does let a bit of her own wholesome light reach out to men who happen to be traveling her way. And perhaps it is not too much to say that it is only the few men unswerving themselves, who are not the better and the truer by reason of association with a woman of fine moral fiber. And it is beautiful in its way, and an occasion for lasting pride, when a friend, a wife, a mother, a sister exerts an influence that tends to keep any man from manifold ills.

But, you see, there must be good timber there, else the influence would be lost on the way. It is all very well for the judge to advise the offending young man to seek a wife to keep him on the safe and sane side, but as a risk "for better or worse," one would advise that shadowy young woman to go very slow.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, July 16.—Samuel B. Wylie is holding an exhibition of his paintings in the studio from the 13th to the 17th of July. He has on exhibition about forty paintings ranging in price from $10 to $150. Mr. Wylie has been a student of this art school for two years and is now working independently. Two years ago he took the second prize awarded by the Art League for superiority. He also won the only scholarship the league offers. Of the paintings on exhibition by Mr. Wylie this may be said, which cannot be said of many paintings, they are surprisingly realistic. His fault is he makes them look like nature. The New York Art League holds two exhibitions of its work done in the Woodstock summer school. One is held in Woodstock during the summer season and the other is held in the Fine Arts building in New York during the winter. The prizes given are $75, $50, $25.

John Folinsbee, who held an exhibition of his work a week ago, took the first prize at the winter exhibition in New York last year.

The following is a list of exhibitions to be held in the studio in the near future:

Mr. Ross, July 20-24.
Mr. Chase, July 27-31.
Mr. Cochran, August 3-7.
Mr. Murray, August 10-15.
Mr. Flemming, August 19-24.

There is rumor afloat that should the number of students in the Art League school fall off on account of the high cost of living and the high rate of rent for studies, the school will be moved elsewhere.

There was a good attendance at the woman's suffrage meeting one day last week and it is rumored that $50 was raised for the cause.

The Saugerties Business Men's Association is interested in the "Chautauqua" they are to give for July 17-23 They are to give a grand band concert in front of the Irvington Hotel Wednesday evening. A speaker will address the meeting in the interest of "Chautauqua Week."

Willard Allen is constructing a fine residence on the bluff above George Neher's. Myron Cashdollar is doing the work of laying the foundation and George Neher is to build the house.

The Rev. Mr. DeMeras of Vineland, N. J., has been stopping in town for a few days. He expects to come back later.

MARTIN'S REPLY.

The Alderman Defends His Resolution to Buy Voting Machines.

Kingston, N. Y., July 15, 1914.

To the Editor of The Freeman:

I notice in the issue of the Kingston Daily Freeman of July 14th, that the mayor has vetoed my resolution in reference to voting machines. Although the mayor was in possession of information which if he had incorporated it in his veto, would have given the true facts to the public, yet he has withheld it for some purpose, and as a result of this allowed the public to be misled. He knew at the time of writing this veto that with voting machines the city would have been saving nearly $1,500 a year; that the voting machines could be bought under a contract calling for the payment of yearly installments of $1,000 each, such installments to be paid in March following the election in November of each year. This saving to the city of nearly $1,500 a year would have enabled the city to pay the installment of $1,000 a year and the interest on the balance, and there would be left over a substantial amount as a saving to the city; thereby these machines could have been purchased without any additional expense to the city whatever, but on the contrary with a large saving to the city.

The following statement shows this to be true:

Under the new Election Law the number of election districts in the city of Kingston must be increased, if paper ballots are used, from 13 to 21, an increase of 8.

If voting machines are used the number will be increased to 17 or four less election districts than under the paper ballot system.

The cost of holding an election in each election district is as follows:

Primary.

4 Inspectors @ $7	$28
2 Ballot Clerks @ $7	14
2 Poll Clerks @ $7	14
	$56

Registration.

4 Inspectors @ $7; 4 days @ $7	112

General Election.

4 Inspectors 1 day @ $10, $40
2 Ballot Clerks 1 day @ $10	20
2 Poll Clerks 1 day @ $10	20
	$80
Total expense in one district	$248
Saving made by doing away with four districts is 4x248	$992

No ballot clerks are needed with machines and an additional saving is made by doing away with 34 ballot clerks @ $10 each, or a saving of | $340

There are additional expenses in each district, such as rent, light and fuel which is estimated to be $30 a district. By doing away with 4 districts, 4x$30 is saved, or a total of | $120

Recapitulation.

Saving 4 districts @ $248 each	$992
Saving by ballot clerks	340
Saving by rent, etc	120
Total saving each year	$1,452

An additional saving is made the first year as it will be unnecessary to provide the new districts with ballot boxes, voting stalls, guard rails and other supplies, estimated to be $30 per dictrict, or a total of 8x$30 or | 240

Total saving made first year. $1,692

17 machines at $600 each will cost a total of | $10,200

These may be paid for in stallments of $1,000 a year, payable the March following the November election.

As the saving made by the use of machines is $1,452 each year, the saving will meet the payment, pay the interest, and leave a balance in the city treasury.

The proposal from the company is that machines will be provided under a contract that in the event that they work correctly, efficiently and in accordance with the laws, they will be purchased in accordance with the above terms.

This will plainly show that the mayor's statement of $12,000 expense saddled upon the taxpayers is not true, and if he had submitted the foregoing facts, which must have been in his possession because he has had interviews with the representatives of the Voting Machine Company, the public would have the information to which it is entitled.

The above method of paying for the machines will amply protect the city against failure of properly operating and the city will not lose anything thereby.

WILLIAM B. MARTIN,
Alderman Twelfth Ward.

BAUCUS IS BANKRUPT.

Former Ashokan Commissioner has Liabilities of $84,761.

John D. Baucus, a lawyer of 49 Wall street, New York, and a member of the Princeton Club, filed a petition in bankruptcy Wednesday showing liabilities of $84,761 and nominal assets of $339,994, consisting of $49,850 claim for legal service, $17 cash, $25 office furniture, notes, $3,302, and shares of stock of $286,800 par value.

Mr. Baucus, who was at one time a partner of Senator Brackett, has spent many years in London as the representative of American interests. Among his assets are $236,000 stock of the Springfield, Wilmington & Cincinnati Railway Company and $42,200 stock of the National Mosaic and Marble Company.

Of his liabilities, $7,750 are secured, $48,346 are unsecured, and $28,500 are for accommodation paper. He had, moreover indorsed $20,000 notes of the Springfield, Wilmington & Cincinnati Railway Company, of which the Carnegie Trust Company held $10,000 and the Windsor Trust Company the remainder. Against the railway company Mr. Baucus has a claim of $18,000 for legal services and a similar claim against W. Friese Greene for $12,500.

Among the creditors are the Citizens National Bank of Saratoga Springs, $4,488; the First National Bank of Saratoga Springs, $4,500; the National Bank of Schuylerville, $2,365; the People's National Bank of Hudson Falls, $600; Henry W. Wack, secured by 500 shares of the Warwick Trading Company, $6,750; Mrs. Esther D. MARTIN'S REPLY.

The Alderman Defends His Resolution to Buy Voting Machines.

Kingston, N. Y., July 15, 1914.

To the Editor of The Freeman:

I notice in the issue of the Kingston Daily Freeman of July 14th, that the mayor has vetoed my resolution in reference to voting machines. Although the mayor was in possession of information which if he had incorporated it in his veto, would have given the true facts to the public, yet he has withheld it for some purpose, and as a result of this allowed the public to be misled. He knew at the time of writing this veto that with voting machines the city would have been saving nearly $1,500 a year; that the voting machines could be bought under a contract calling for the payment of yearly installments of $1,000 each, such installments to be paid in March following the election in November of each year. This saving to the city of nearly $1,500 a year would have enabled the city to pay the installment of $1,000 a year and the interest on the balance, and there would be left over a substantial amount as a saving to the city; thereby these machines could have been purchased without any additional expense to the city whatever, but on the contrary with a large saving to the city.

The following statement shows this to be true:

Under the new Election Law the number of election districts in the city of Kingston must be increased, if paper ballots are used, from 13 to 21, an increase of 8.

If voting machines are used the number will be increased to 17 or four less election districts than under the paper ballot system.

The cost of holding an election in each election district is as follows:

Primary.

4 Inspectors @ $7	$28
2 Ballot Clerks @ $7	14
2 Poll Clerks @ $7	14
	$56

Registration.

4 Inspectors @ $7; 4 days @ $7	112

General Election.

4 Inspectors 1 day @ $10, $40
2 Ballot Clerks 1 day @ $10	20
2 Poll Clerks 1 day @ $10	20
	$80
Total expense in one district	$248
Saving made by doing away with four districts is 4x248	$992

No ballot clerks are needed with machines and an additional saving is made by doing away with 34 ballot clerks @ $10 each, or a saving of | $340

There are additional expenses in each district, such as rent, light and fuel which is estimated to be $30 a district. By doing away with 4 districts, 4x$30 is saved, or a total of | $120

Recapitulation.

Saving 4 districts @ $248 each	$992
Saving by ballot clerks	340
Saving by rent, etc	120
Total saving each year	$1,452

An additional saving is made the first year as it will be unnecessary to provide the new districts with ballot boxes, voting stalls, guard rails and other supplies, estimated to be $30 per dictrict, or a total of 8x$30 or | 240

17 machines at $600 each will cost a total of | $10,200

These may be paid for in stallments of $1,000 a year, payable the March following the November election.

As the saving made by the use of machines is $1,452 each year, the saving will meet the payment, pay the interest, and leave a balance in the city treasury.

The proposal from the company is that machines will be provided under a contract that in the event that they work correctly, efficiently and in accordance with the laws, they will be purchased in accordance with the above terms.

This will plainly show that the mayor's statement of $12,000 expense saddled upon the taxpayers is not true, and if he had submitted the foregoing facts, which must have been in his possession because he has had interviews with the representatives of the Voting Machine Company, the public would have the information to which it is entitled.

The above method of paying for the machines will amply protect the city against failure of properly operating and the city will not lose anything thereby.

CASES OF INTEREST RECENTLY DECIDED

Winter vs. Winter, 145 Northwestern Reporter, 709, is a case in which is determined whether the husband, by remarrying, may obtain exemption from the liability which he incurred by reason of a former marriage. A decree of divorce had been obtained against the appellee, and later the payment of alimony for the support of his wife and child was decreed. Execution on the judgment was returned unsatisfied, and a garnishee summons was thereupon issued. The garnishee was duly served, and the defendant Leonard Winter, set up that he was again married, was living with his wife, and was the head of a family; that he had neither land, town lots, nor a house subject to exemption as a homestead; that he and his wife were boarding; and that they had no household furniture or other property except wearing apparel. The District Court discharged the garnishee, and plaintiff appealed. The Supreme Court of Nebraska held that the husband could not defeat the collection of alimony by remarrying and claiming the benefit of the exemption law. The court said that the law ought not to permit him to construct a shield that will protect him in his marital and domestic recklessness. By getting married again he ought not to be permitted to relieve himself from the burden of support. "The branch of jurisprudence which treats of marriage is most important. Marriage furnishes the basis of a permanent and Christian civilization. The duties assumed under it should be conscientiously discharged. Courts of equity will compel the enforcement of marriage obligations, and no mere rule of laws ought to be interposed by him will permit the derelict husband to escape the burden of supporting his wife and children." The court held that the object of the statute relating to exemptions was the protection of the family and not the protection of the husband. "It could never have designed to allow a man to escape his obligations to his family. Why, then, should it not protect the family against him, as well as protect it against a creditor?"

Prize Fighting.

The Springfield Court of Appeals, Missouri, in State vs. Business Men's Athletic Club, 163 Southwestern Reporter, 901, says, as to cited definitions of "prize fights": "Most or all of them include the element of receiving a prize or reward by one or both contestants, though it is held that it is not essential that the winner receive a different or greater reward than the loser. It is apparent that the 'championship' or honor and reputation of being the winner may be a sufficient prize. It may be true that the incentive of obtaining a prize or reward as the winner in such a contest was the principal factor in building up and developing the sport and [illegible] flower farm together with her cottage, located on Rural avenue, south [illegible] Paltz village, and opposite [illegible] such contests. [illegible] law, however, is not so much against the giving of a prize or reward for such contests as against the kind of fights which had been developed by giving prizes and which the lawmakers found were being conducted under the name of prize fights. Nor does the fact that certain 'rules' have been enacted and are observed in such contests tending to make the same less dangerous to life and limb, and to lessen the pain and physical injury to the combatants, prevent such contests from being prize fights. It seems to us that, while there are other elements and characteristics of a prize fight, such as the law seeks to probihit, of more or less importance, that the essential element is the prearranged fighting, under certain rules, of two persons by striking each other with their fists and hands for the purpose and with the intent to inflict on each other such physical pain or injury as to disable his adversary from further continuing the contest. The fact that the fight may be stopped by a referee before an actual 'knockout,' when it has progressed long enough, and with such results that there is no longer a doubt as to which will disable the other, would make little difference as to the kind of fight. Nor should it make much difference that it be agreed that, in case one party succeeded in disabling his adversary in, say, 10 rounds— that is, 40 to 50 minutes of fighting, with short rest periods—that the fight then cease, or, if neither is disabled within that time, the victor be determined by which has inflicted the most punishment or nearest disabled his adversary."

About, Face!

Plaintiff did not find the Court of Appeals of Kentucky in Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company vs. Spiller, 162 Southwestern Reporter, 815, as sympathetic with his views of personal liberty as he insisted that it should be. He found that disregard of trainmen's orders brings one into disagreeable relations with them, and also that the courts will take no part with him to secure that one panacea for all legal suffering, pecuniary compensation. From the pleadings it appears that the railroad company had a rule that no passenger be permitted to have his seat turned so that it would face the rear, and that the plaintiff insisted on being permitted to remain in such position. He was informed as to the rule against riding in such position, but refused to get up to permit the seat to be turned, whereupon he was ejected from the train. In a suit to recover damages for wrongful ejection, it was said to be the duty of a carrier in the interest of the traveling public to adopt reasonable rules and regulations for the operation of its trains, and that it was the duty of a passenger to obey such rules and regulations, when requested to do so. The court recognized that it was a well known custom for persons who are permitted to sit in a coach with two seats facing each other to sit in one of them and to occupy the other with their baggage and bundles, and that many cannot resist the temptation to place their feet upon the seat facing them, making the condition of the seat very unsanitary. The rule which the trainmen tried to enforce was a good and reasonable one, and plaintiff was denied relief on the pleas.

What a Written Instrument?

Defendant Dadmun in People v. Dadmun, 137 Pacific Reporter, 1,071, was indicted under Section 492, Cal. Penal C., for grand larceny for stealing from one George Webb an undelivered deed in which defendant was grantee. The California District Court of Appeal says: "If the deed was delivered, and respondent insists that such fact is implied from the allegation that it 'showed and conveyed title to the real property therein described,' then of course no offense is charged. On the other hand, if the deed was not delivered, is it 'a written instrument' within the meaning of those words as used in the section quoted? If not, then it follows that the stealing of the deed was merely the unlawful taking of an article having no value other than that of the paper and labor performed in writing thereon, the value of which is not stated. * * * The term 'written instrument' means a written document delivered with the intention that it shall take effect in accordance with its purpose, as shown by the language used therein. The use of the word 'with respect to contracts and deeds of conveyance of real estate implies a delivery, without which the documents are inoperative for any purpose. Sections 1,626 and 1,054, Civ. Code. Since the document was not delivered it was not a written instrument but merely a piece of paper with writing thereon, ineffectual and inoperative for the purpose of conveying the property described therein. It appears the Legislature recognized the fact that documents and writings inoperative for want of delivery could not, in the absence of positive law, be the subject of larceny as 'written instruments,' for section 494 of the Penal Code provides: 'All the provisions of this chapter apply where the property taken is an instrument for the payment of money, evidence of debt, public security, or passage ticket, completed and ready to be issued or delivered, although the same has never been issued or delivered by the makers thereof to any person as a purchaser or owner.' In this enumeration of undelivered instruments which are made the subject of larceny deeds are not designated therein, and applying the maxim that 'the expression of one thing excludes another,' they should not be included among the undelivered instruments to which the provisions of the section are said to apply."

Wrongful Death.

In re Brennan's Account, Supreme Court, Appellate Division, Supreme Department, 145 New York Supplement, 440, gives clear-cut statements of the New York law as to causes of action [illegible] concerning wrongful death: [illegible] arising out of [illegible] tion for the recovery [illegible] cause of action for the pecuniary injury of damages is purely a statutory [illegible] jury from death v. McEntee, 142 N. [illegible] one. Stuber 878. It is not found [illegible] Y. 200, 36 N. E. [illegible] lation of any [illegible] founded upon the violation of a right known to [illegible] it is a new cause [illegible] is wholly distinct from and not a revivor of the cause of action, which, if he had survived, the decedent would have for his bodily injury. * * * Hence, as a general rule, no action will lie for a wrong committed out of this state which resulted in death (Whitford v. Panama Railroad Co., supra); but, if a statute of the foreign state authorizes a recovery upon grounds substantially similar to our own, the courts of this state will entertain such action in a spirit of comity. * * * This cause of action is in the nature of a property right arising out of the interest which one has in the life of another upon whom one is or may be dependent or to whose services he is entitled. It is 'a pecuniary right; a right having the essential attributes of property, so that when it is taken away compensation is due.' When, subsequent to the commencement of the action, but before the recovery of judgment therein, the sole next of kin of the injured person died, the action did not abate, because 'that right of action was the property of the beneficiary which was not forfeited by his death, but became a part of his estate.' This right of action belongs to the persons named in the statute as the beneficiaries of the proceeds of the judgment, and not to the administrator. * * * Hence payment of a sum to one who was not one of the beneficiaries named in the statute, in full settlement of the claim for injury, has been held not to bar a subsequent action by him as the administrator of decedent to recover for such injuries for the benefit of the next of kin (Stuber v. McEntee, supra), while payment to one who was sole next of kin of a sum in settlement of such claim did bar a subsequent application after his death to set such compromise aside. * * * This action is not brought to recover for personal injuries done to the beneficiaries, although arising out of a personal injury to another. Hence negligence of the sole next of kin which contributed to the injury, if not imputable to the decedent, is not a bar to the action."

* * * *

Constitutional Classification in Employers' Liability Law.

The Employers' Liability Act of Indiana, in Laws 1911, c. 88, section 1, makes employers of more than five persons liable for injuries to, or the death of, an employe due to its negligence, or the negligence of its agents, servants, etc. In a suit brought under this statute it was attacked on several grounds, among which was the objection that the classification making employers of five or more persons liable and leaving employers of less than five persons free from its obligations was violative of the 14th amendment to the federal Constitution and of the state Constitution. The Supreme Court of Indiana upholds the constitutionality of the statute. It says: "The serious question in the case, as applied to the statute, centers in the classification of those who employ five of more persons, as affected by provisions of the equal protection of the laws clause of the federal and state Constitutions. It cannot be denied that in drawing the line at employers of five or more persons the statute is in some sense arbitrary, but the question is: Is it so far purely arbitrary as to be without any reasonable basis? Every statute is arbitrary in the sense that it is the legislative fiat, but with reference to classification, while it must have some reasonable basis upon which to rest, it is not essential that courts must be satisfied with the basis; or, put negatively, unless the courts are satisfied that there can be no basis in reason on which it can rest, they are not warranted in overthrowing it." As to the question whether the classification made by the statute here involved rested upon some material or substantial basis, and operated upon all alike within the class, the court said, "the answer depends upon what is meant by all within the class. Does it mean all within the class which the statute affects, or must it include also those outside that class, who may be similarly employed or situate as employers? It appears to us to mean the former only, for the reason that the statute itself recognizes conditions in degrees of danger, based on numbers employed, and bases its application on those differences, * * * Granted, also, that the distinction may be a narrow one, or finely drawn, that only emphasizes the fact that makes it all the more difficult for a court, in view of such fine distinction, to say that it may not be so drawn. * * *" Vandalia Railroad Company v. Stillwell, 104 Northeastern Reporter, 289.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9982—A Popular and Pleasing Style—Dress With Over Blouse for Misses and Small Women.

This attractive model was made of blue and white dotted challie, with batiste for the underwaist. The over blouse may be omitted. The design is also good for linen, lawn, gingham, chiffon or moire taffeta, serge or cashmere. The skirt is cut on graceful lines, and with plaited fulness that may be gathered. It is finished with slightly raised waistline. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 5½ yards of 27 inch material with 2¼ yards for the underwaist for a 16 year size. The skirt measures about 1¼ yards at lower edge.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

CASES OF INTEREST RECENTLY DECIDED

Winter vs. Winter, 145 Northwestern Reporter, 709, is a case in which is determined whether the husband, by remarrying, may obtain exemption from the liability which he incurred by reason of a former marriage. A decree of divorce had been obtained against the appellee, and later the payment of alimony for the support of his wife and child was decreed. Execution on the judgment was returned unsatisfied, and a garnishee summons was thereupon issued. The garnishee was duly served, and the defendant Leonard Winter, set up that he was again married, was living with his wife, and was the head of a family; that he had neither land, town lots, nor a house subject to exemption as a homestead; that he and his wife were boarding; and that they had no household furniture or other property except wearing apparel. The District Court discharged the garnishee, and plaintiff appealed. The Supreme Court of Nebraska held that the husband could not defeat the collection of alimony by remarrying and claiming the benefit of the exemption law. The court said that the law ought not to permit him to construct a shield that will protect him in his marital and domestic recklessness. By getting married again he ought not to be permitted to relieve himself from the burden of support. "The branch of jurisprudence which treats of marriage is most important. Marriage furnishes the basis of a permanent and Christian civilization. The duties assumed under it should be conscientiously discharged. Courts of equity will compel the enforcement of marriage obligations, and no mere rule of laws ought to be interposed by him will permit the derelict husband to escape the burden of supporting his wife and children." The court held that the object of the statute relating to exemptions was the protection of the family and not the protection of the husband. "It could never have designed to allow a man to escape his obligations to his family. Why, then, should it not protect the family against him, as well as protect it against a creditor?"

Prize Fighting.

The Springfield Court of Appeals, Missouri, in State vs. Business Men's Athletic Club, 163 Southwestern Reporter, 901, says, as to cited definitions of "prize fights": "Most or all of them include the element of receiving a prize or reward by one or both contestants, though it is held that it is not essential that the winner receive a different or greater reward than the loser. It is apparent that the 'championship' or honor and reputation of being the winner may be a sufficient prize. It may be true that the incentive of obtaining a prize or reward as the winner in such a contest was the principal factor in building up and developing the sport, and ... flower farm together with her cottage, located on Rural avenue, south of ... Delts village, and opposite ... such contests. ... law, however, is not so much against the giving of a prize or reward for such contests as against the kind of fights which had been developed by giving prizes and which the lawmakers found were being conducted under the name of prize fights. Nor does the fact that certain 'rules' have been enacted and are observed in such contests tending to make the same less dangerous to life and limb, and to lessen the pain and physical injury to the combatants, prevent such contests from being prize fights. It seems to us that, while there are other elements and characteristics of a prize fight, such as the law seeks to probihit, of more or less importance, that the essential element is the prearranged fighting, under certain rules, of two persons by striking each other with their fists and hands for the purpose and with the intent to inflict on each other such physical pain or injury as to disable his adversary from further continuing the contest. The fact that the fight may be stopped by a referee before an actual 'knockout,' when it has progressed long enough, and with such results that there is no longer a doubt as to which will disable the other, would make little difference as to the kind of fight. Nor should it make much difference that it be agreed that, in case one party succeeded in disabling his adversary in, say, 10 rounds— that is, 40 to 50 minutes of fighting, with short rest periods—that the fight then cease, or, if neither is disabled within that time, the victor be determined by which has inflicted the most punishment or nearest disabled his adversary."

About, Face!

Plaintiff did not find the Court of Appeals of Kentucky in Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Company vs. Spiller, 162 Southwestern Reporter, 815, as sympathetic with his views of personal liberty as he insisted that it should be. He found that disregard of trainmen's orders brings one into disagreeable relations with them, and also that the courts will take no part with him to secure that one panacea for all legal suffering, pecuniary compensation. From the pleadings it appears that the railroad company had a rule that no passenger be permitted to have his seat turned so that it would face the rear, and that the plaintiff insisted on being permitted to remain in such position. He was informed as to the rule against riding in such position, but refused to get up to permit the seat to be turned, whereupon he was ejected from the train. In a suit to recover damages for wrongful ejection, it was said to be the duty of a carrier in the interest of the traveling public to adopt reasonable rules and regulations for the operation of its trains, and that it was the duty of a passenger to obey such rules and regulations, when requested to do so. The court recognized that it was a well known custom for persons who are permitted to sit in a coach with two seats facing each other to sit in one of them and to occupy the other with their baggage and bundles, and that many cannot resist the temptation to place their feet upon the seat facing them, making the condition of the seat very unsanitary. The rule which the trainmen tried to enforce was a good and reasonable one, and plaintiff was denied relief on the ... ge.

Wrongful Death.

In re Brennan's Account, Su... Court, Appellate Division, ...preme Department, 145 New Y... Second ment, 440, gives clear-cut ... k Supplement of the New York ... lawyers' statements causes of action ... concerning wrongful death: ... arising out of tion for the recovery ... cause of action for the pecuniary ... y of damages is purely a statut... ury from death v. McEntee, 142 N... one. Stuber 878. It is not fou... Y. 200, 36 N. E. lation of any ... nded upon the violation ... right known to ... t is a new cause ... is wholly distinct from and not a revivor of the cause of action, which, if he had survived, the decedent would have for his bodily injury. * * * Hence, as a general rule, no action will lie for a wrong committed out of this state which resulted in death (Whitford v. Panama Railroad Co., supra); but, if a statute of the foreign state authorizes a recovery upon grounds substantially similar to our own, the courts of this state will entertain such action in a spirit of comity. * * * This cause of action is in the nature of a property right arising out of the interest which one has in the life of another upon whom one is or may be dependent or to whose services he is entitled. It is 'a pecuniary right; a right having the essential attributes of property, so that when it is taken away compensation is due.' When, subsequent to the commencement of the action, but before the recovery of judgment therein, the sole next of kin of the injured person died, the action did not abate, because 'that right of action was the property of the beneficiary which was not forfeited by his death, but became a part of his estate.' This right of action belongs to the persons named in the statute as the beneficiaries of the proceeds of the judgment, and not to the administrator. * * * Hence payment of a sum to one who was not one of the beneficiaries named in the statute, in full settlement of the claim for injury, has been held not to bar a subsequent action by him as the administrator of decedent to recover for such injuries for the benefit of the next of kin (Stuber v. McEntee, supra), while payment to one who was sole next of kin of a sum in settlement of such claim did bar a subsequent application after his death to set such compromise aside. * * * This action is not brought to recover for personal injuries done to the beneficiaries, although arising out of a personal injury to another. Hence negligence of the sole next of kin which contributed to the injury, if not imputable to the decedent, is not a bar to the action."

Constitutional Classification in Employers' Liability Law.

The Employers' Liability Act of Indiana, in Laws 1911, c. 88, section 1, makes employers of more than five persons liable for injuries to, or the death of, an employe due to its negligence, or the negligence of its agents, servants, etc. In a suit brought under this statute it was attacked on several grounds, among which was the objection that the classification making employers of five or more persons liable and leaving employers of less than five persons free from its obligations was violative of the 14th amendment to the federal Constitution and of the state Constitution. The Supreme Court of Indiana upholds the constitutionality of the statute. It says: "The serious question in the case, as applied to the statute, centers in the classification of those who employ five of more persons, as affected by provisions of the equal protection of the laws clause of the federal and state Constitutions. It cannot be denied that in drawing the line at employers of five or more persons the statute is in some sense arbitrary, but the question is: Is it so far purely arbitrary as to be without any reasonable basis? Every statute is arbitrary in the sense that it is the legislative fiat, but with reference to classification, while it must have some reasonable basis upon which to rest, it is not essential that courts must be satisfied with the basis; or, put negatively, unless the courts are satisfied that there can be no basis in reason on which it can rest, they are not warranted in overthrowing it." As to the question whether the classification made by the statute here involved rested upon some material or substantial basis, and operated upon all alike within the class, the court said, "the answer depends upon what is meant by all within the class. Does it mean all within the class which the statute affects, or must it include also those outside that class, who may be similarly employed or situate as employers? It appears to us to mean the former only, for the reason that the statute itself recognizes conditions in degrees of danger, based on numbers employed, and bases its application on those differences. * * * Granted, also, that the distinction may be a narrow one, or finely drawn, that only emphasizes the fact that makes it all the more difficult for a court, in view of such fine distinction, to say that it may not be so drawn. * * *" Vandalia Railroad Company v. Stillwell, 104 Northeastern Reporter, 289.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9982—A Popular and Pleasing Style—Dress With Over Blouse for Misses and Small Women.

This attractive model was made of blue and white dotted challie, with batiste for the underwaist. The over blouse may be omitted. The design is also good for linen, lawn, gingham, chiffon or moire taffeta, serge or cashmere. The skirt is cut on graceful lines, and with plaited fulness that may be gathered. It is finished with slightly raised waistline. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 5½ yards of 27 inch material with 2¼ yards for the underwaist for a 16 year size. The skirt measures about 1¼ yards at lower edge.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Mid-week prayer service this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Reformed Church. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

The Dorcas Society of the Reformed Church will hold a Gypsy encampment at Vanderveer's grove on the afternoon and evening of August 5. The girls who will be attired in Gypsy costume and be real Gypsies for the occasion will be glad to wait on you in their usual way. This affair will be in the form of a carnival with several side shows and many attractions in tents. One very important feature of the encampment will be an exhibit of the work which the girls have been doing during the winter. Some beautiful pieces will be exhibited. There will also be some hand work on sale. The good things on sale will be cakes, ice cream, hot frankfurters with rolls, peanuts, pink lemonade and candy. Do not miss seeing the famous "Gypsy pot" around which will hover the busy Gypsies. It is hoped that all the animals and curiosities of the band may be in proper condition to be on exhibition at the time. Some of the famous fortune tellers of the land have been engaged for this occasion. In the evening the happy band will entertain you with a Gypsy dance and excellent entertainment, and only ask in return a free will offering. Keep the date in mind.

Prayer meeting will be held in the Reformed Church tonight at 7:30 o'clock and will be led by the pastor. The subject for discussion will be: "What Constitutes a Good Man." Choir meeting will be held immediatey after the service.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Leeper, pastor of the First Reformed Church in Kingston, will occupy the pulpit of the Reformed Church in this place next Sunday evening.

Sweeping and Sensational Garment Price-Reductions !

"Clearance sales" in Kingston are as numerous as fleas on a "yaller dog." Do not they remind you of times when you stepped from a train and were greeted by a band of "hotel runners," all making sword-like thrusts at you with stubby forefingers and each outvieing his fellow in brass-lunged vehemence? If you are wise and want the best garments at legitimate, deeply-cut prices, you will shoo away the whole crew and come straight to us, where you are assured of the greatest values.

We go along in our own quiet, unostentatious way, slashing prices whenever the mood seizes us, regardless of the claims or pretentions of retailers. We can do so because we are manufacturers and makers of the garments we sell. This is distinctly a Kingston enterprise, launched with private capital and nurtured on the generous patronage of an appreciative public. Come to us, select the fabric that strikes your fancy and we'll make your Coat, Suit or Skirt for what ready-made costs.

TRUMBULL
CYCLE CAR
Cost but 50 cents a day to run

You could write an almost perfect description of this wonderful little car just by putting down the car qualities you have wanted for years; lightness, low fuel cost, lowest possible tire cost, the rugged strength of a truck and the graceful, stream lines of an imported racer, all achieved without freakiness or experimental vagaries.

The Trumbull is an evolution. It stands for all that is known of automobile design and construction. Every mechanical device that insures strength and durability, every refinement of design that has been developed in the automobile industry, is incorporated in the Trumbull. Nothing is lacking.

To read Trumbull specifications is to recognize them as the specifications of a highly developed, ultra-modern automobile. The only difference is in size. Mechanical starter? Yes. Electric lights? Yes. Comfort? Ample for two, with compartment in rear for two hundred pounds of luggage. Four-cylinder water-cooled motor. Splitdorf high-tension magneto. Non-skid U. S. Tires. Top, windshield, electric lights and horn, mechanical self-starter and tools are included as regular equipment at the extraordinary price of

STONE CRUSHING PLANT TO RESUME

Although the plant of the North River Stone Company at South Rondout has been closed down for some time owing to the fact that the corporation was in the progress of reorganizing the outlook at the present time is that it will shortly resume under new management. It is likely that the works will be greatly enlarged and the capacity increased to a considerable extent. The new company which will take over the plant is to be known as the Mohawk and Hudson Stone Company. Besides the South Rondout concern other crushers down the river will be included in the new corporation.

On Wednesday Judge Alton B. Parker, John J. Williams, the reputed owner of the local plant, and other men interested in the stone crushing business, visited the works at South Rondout and discussed ways and means of increasing the output as soon as the new consolidation is finally under way. They were shown over the plant by John D. Hait of this city, who has been in charge of the works for some time. Of late but little work has been done on the property which is situated on the site of the old Portland cement mill above the Wilbur bridge. With the branching out of the new company it is thought that a large number of additional hands will be placed at work in the quarries and on the crushers and be of direct benefit to Wilbur. The North River Stone Company always paid liberal wages and had about 150 men at work when running full blast. A big hole has been cut in the hill behind the plant to get out the stone to be crushed and its barges were shipped almost daily from the port in the tows.

John J. Williams is a Philadelphia man and holds the greater part of the stock in many of the stone crushing plants along the river. Internal dissensions arose in the company ad the plant here shut down until a readjustment could be made. It is understood that Mr. Williams will be in absolute control of the new corporation.

LAKE HILL.

Lake Hill, July 16.—Clarence Howland has purchased a new five passenger touring car.

Send Greeting:

You, and each of you, are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear at a Surrogate's Court to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Surrogate's Office, in the City of Kingston, in said County, on the 14th day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to show cause why George H. Carr of the Town of Denning, Ulster Co., New York, a creditor of Albert Van Dover, deceased, late of the said Town of Denning, Ulster Co., New York, should not be appointed administrator of the goods, chattels and credits which were of the said Albert Van Dover, deceased. And if any of the persons interested be under the age of twenty-one years, they are required to appear by their guardian, if they have one, or if they have none, they are required to appear and apply for the appointment of one, or in event of their neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for them in the proceeding.

In Testimony Whereof, we have caused the Seal of said Surrogate's Court to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Walter N. Gill, Surrogate of our said County, at the City of Kingston, the 1st d[illegible] July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and fourteen.

STONE CRUSHING PLANT TO RESUME

Although the plant of the North River Stone Company at South Rondout has been closed down for some time owing to the fact that the corporation was in the progress of reorganizing the outlook at the present time is that it will shortly resume under new management. It is likely that the works will be greatly enlarged and the capacity increased to a considerable extent. The new company which will take over the plant is to be known as the Mohawk and Hudson Stone Company. Besides the South Rondout concern other crushers down the river will be included in the new corporation.

On Wednesday Judge Alton B. Parker, John J. Williams, the reputed owner of the local plant, and other men interested in the stone crushing business, visited the works at South Rondout and discussed ways and means of increasing the output as soon as the new consolidation is finally under way. They were shown over the plant by John D. Hait of this city, who has been in charge of the works for some time. Of late but little work has been done on the property which is situated on the site of the old Portland cement mill above the Wilbur bridge. With the branching out of the new company it is thought that a large number of additional hands will be placed at work in the quarries and on the crushers and be of direct benefit to Wilbur. The North River Stone Company always paid liberal wages and had about 150 men at work when running full blast. A big hole has been cut in the hill behind the plant to get out the stone to be crushed and its barges were shipped almost daily from the port in the tows.

John J. Williams is a Philadelphia man and holds the greater part of the stock in many of the stone crushing plants along the river. Internal dissensions arose in the company ad the plant here shut down until a readjustment could be made. It is understood that Mr. Williams will be in absolute control of the new corporation.

LAKE HILL.

Lake Hill, July 16.—Clarence Howland has purchased a new five passenger touring car.

George Quick, Sr., has bought back the horse he sold to Stanley Quick. That horse is surely changing hands quite often.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Quick from Chichester spent a few days with Mrs. Quick's mother at Mink Hollow.

We are having plenty of rain at present. It will do everything good but doesn't make good haying weather for those who have started their haying.

Wilber Crane motored up from Kingston on Friday with his new Ford automobile.

We are very glad to see ruts ha[ve] ed out of the road as there has been a lot of complaining about the roads this spring.

Moses Sagendorf has his house filled with summer boarders.

E. W. Hook of New York city, who has been spending a few days at his home here, has returned to the city.

Dr. Willis has commenced his haying. Henry Carl and Fred Drennon are doing it.

We hear that Royal Quick and Arthur Sickler are going to Fleischmann's with their cars to carry passengers. We were in hopes some of the cars would stay in the place to accommodate the people here.

Dr. Willis and family motored to Catskill on Monday.

MOMBACCUS HEIGHTS.

Mombaccus Heights, July 16.—The Rev. and Mrs. Ambrose Quick of Phoenicia, their daughter and granddaughter of Albany are spending their vacation at his summer home in this place.

Miss Mary E. Van Etten, who has been visiting her parents, has returned to East Flatbush, where she has been spending part of her vacation with relatives. She will shortly return to Hammondsport, where she will take charge of the training class at the beginning of the fall term.

Mrs. J. Simpson and daughter of Pataukunk visited her mother, Mrs. Harriett Morehouse, on Sunday.

F. P. Smith and two sons went to Kingston by auto Tuesday.

Ralph McDermott again visited this place on Saturday returning with his wife to Newburgh on Sunday.

Miss Anna Van Etten of Highland Mills is spending the summer with her parents here.

Solomon Uhtraff has gone on a business trip to New York.

Miss Ethel McDonald is employed at the Falls View Cottage.

Thomas Morehouse shot a large rattlesnake one day this week.

Friend Smith and sons will gather the hay crop on the Hasbrouck farm near Accord.

Miss Olive Smith has lately received an order from the Larkin Soap Company.

QUARRYVILLE.

Quarryville, July 16.—The Ministers' Association of the town of Saugerties met Monday at the M. E. Church. A very interesting and inspiring service was held in the afternoon and evening.

William Quick and Frank Van Valkenburgh have gone to Schenectady to work.

Miss Maude Schoonmaker of West Saugerties called at J. C. Post's on Monday evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society meet on Thursday afternoon for the purpose of reorganization.

A very severe electric storm swept over this place last Saturday afternoon. A number of telephones were burned out and the residence of Sheldon W. Teetsel was struck.

What Did He Mean?

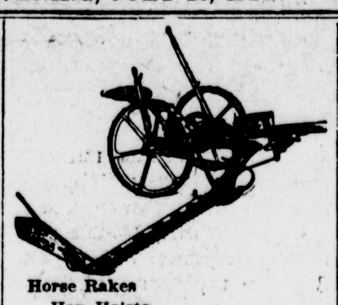

"Don't you know that your wife should have had the money you spent in getting on this drunk?" Judge Church White asked a prisoner, relates the Atchison Globe. "I have no wife," the prisoner replied, "[illegible] get drunk for?" asked the judge.

SLAYER OF EDITOR SOON TO BE TRIED.

EX-TIGER CHIEF WHO IS COMING TO FIGHT MURPHY.

(Richard Croker, Sr.)

New York, July 16.—According to Harry W. Walker his friend and confidant, Richard Croker, former Tammany Hall leader, will return to the United States in the fall to join the fight against Charles F. Murphy, the present leader of the Tammany organization. Walker has just returned to Croker's Irish estate and claims to have received this information from the former chieftain himself.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, July 16.—On Wednesday the boys of the Zelenko Camp, Oliverea, visited Shandaken, and played two baseball matches with the Shandaken Institute. The junior match resulted in a draw, the score being 6-6. The principal match resulted in a victory for the home team by 11 to 2. For Shandaken runs were made by Coons, Townsend, DeGraff, Peet, Ellsworth, Steinmann, Machado.

Arrivals at The Glenbrook this week include Mr. and Mrs. Cesar A. Gomez and family, and J. W. J. Sanchez, Havana, Cuba; M. Yglesias, Brooklyn; W. L. Steinmann, Paterson, N. J.

Chauncey DeGraff of New York spent last Sunday in Shandaken on a visit to his son, Barth DeGraff, of Shandaken Institute.

A party of twenty from Shandaken had a hayride to Phoenicia last Saturday evening to attend the vaudeville performance given in the Odd Fellows' Hall, in aid of the funds of the hose company. Notwithstanding the rain, a most pleasant time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Elvey of Phoenicia were in town on Tuesday.

Eli Miller, while working at Shandaken Institute, where he is superintendent, cut his hand so badly as to need medical attention. Dr. Baldwin of Pine Hill put several stitches in the injured fingers and Mr. Miller's friends will be glad to know that no permanent injury is likely to result from the accident.

PLATTEKILL.

Plattekill, July 16.—The sermon preached in the M. E. Church Sunday morning by the Rev. J. E. Lovejoy was very much appreciated by the congregation. The ladies of the congregation brought bouquets of flowers to be sent to the poor children living in the East Side of New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hartney are entertaining relatives from Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Marlborough visited Mr. and Mrs. S. Birdsall last Sunday.

Mrs. Lewis Piper is visiting friends in this place. Her daughter, Miss Lulu Piper, is assisting Mrs. A. Cappentar through boarding season.

The annual church fair will be held on the M. E. Church grounds, Friday evening, July 30, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. M. Cubberly and daughter Marian, of Newburgh have returned home after spending a few days with Mrs. Francis Garrison.

Miss Edith Heaton of Clintondale, visited at the Minard home on Sunday last.

The young people of this place are practicing twice a week for a concert to be held in the M. E. Church Saturday evening August 8.

How a Nation Was Made

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

"Count," said King Victor Emmanuel at a time when both were playing a diplomatic game to keep the European powers from standing in their way of affecting the unity of Italy, "on whom can you rely to befriend us?"

"No one," was the laconic reply.

"In that case we shall have to fight them all, which means we shall not succeed in our purpose."

"I have but one object, your majesty, in what I am doing now. I wish to compel the emperor of France to decide in our favor. He is the only sovereign who wavers as to what is his interest. He is supposed to have been elected by the people, and the cause of the people against those who rule by divine right is growing stronger every day. In half a century it will be the main question of the day. Ours is the cause of the oppressed against oppressors. Therefore it is the cause for which the Napoleonic dynasty stands. On the other side the emperor of France cannot ignore his interests on the side of the church. If I can get a lever by which I may pry him over to our side we win. He is too powerful for any of the other powers to oppose."

"But how get such a lever?"

"Does your majesty remember the Princess Paolini?"

"The woman who turned the heads of all the men in the capital last winter and caused three duels?"

"The same. She is enthusiastic for Italian unity. She came to me to ask how she could serve her country. At the time I was wishing for that lever I have mentioned. I told her to go to Paris, worm herself into the confidence of some one close to the emperor and, if possible, possess herself of a state secret that Napoleon would not have known. He hates our main enemy, Austria, and, whatsoever action he takes with us, will in the end play her false. If we can get some written evidence as to what he intends for the power that deserted the husband of Marie Louise to join the allies we can restore it to him in exchange for his good will in our present necessities."

* * * * * * *

In a chateau near Paris the Princess Paolini was sitting in an easy chair, while Emile Levoisier sat near. Levoisier was the Emperor Napoleon's private secretary.

"I dare say," remarked the princess, "that the emperor reposes great faith in one who must necessarily know his secrets."

"I am a locked safe," was the reply. "Iron safe locks may be picked." pursued the princess, "by those possessing mechanical skill. Were I the repository of state papers of great importance I should keep them on my person."

"That's exactly where"—

He stopped short. He did not suspect this woman of having any interest in his documents, but it was not the part of one in his position to tell any one where he kept his important papers. But his mind was rather on the woman than on his documents, for she had enthralled him.

Presently she said she felt faint and would like a glass of wine. He called a servant, and a decanter and glasses were brought. He poured a glass of the wine for her, looking at her anxiously. She sipped it languidly and said:

"To drink alone is like kissing waxy lips. Drink with me."

Levoisier poured himself a glass of the wine and was about to drink when she put her hand on his.

"In the closet of my room are some biscuit that I invariably take with wine between meals. Will you go and get one for me?"

"I will send"—

She looked at him as if hurt that he would not himself do this favor for her, and, rising, he left the room. He had no sooner gone than she took a powder from her corsage and dropped it in the glass he had left. He returned in a few minutes with the biscuit, and they drank together.

It was not long before Levoisier began to nod, and, rising, he staggered to a lounge and lay down. He was soon in a deep sleep, and the princess, searching his pockets, found a document. It proved to be a memorandum of a proposition to be made to the czar of Russia for an alliance against Austria with reference to disposition of certain Balkan provinces. Leaving Levoisier sleeping on the lounge, she went to her room, gathered what she needed for immediate use and left the chateau.

Two days later she stood in Cavour's cabinet.

"Well," he asked anxiously, "what success?"

The princess handed him the stolen document. He cast his eyes over it rapidly, then muttered thanks that were inaudible.

"I fear that your highness has everything a woman can wish for," he said, "and I shall not be able to reward you."

"I have done it for Italy," was the reply.

Cavour waited for advices from the Tuileries, which came in due time. An Italian princess had possessed herself of a paper important to the emperor. If the government would see that it was returned unused the emperor would reciprocate. The paper was returned and a request made that Napoleon would not interfere with Victor Emmanuel's efforts to establish Italian unity. The request was granted.

When Real Knowledge Comes.

"Mamma," asked a little girl, "how long did you know papa before you married him?"

"My dear," replied the mother, "I was acquainted with your father for several years, but I really didn't know him until after we were married."

EX-TIGER CHIEF WHO IS COMING TO FIGHT MURPHY.

(Richard Croker, Sr.)

New York, July 16.—According to Harry W. Walker his friend and confidant, Richard Croker, former Tammany Hall leader, will return to the United States in the fall to join the fight against Charles F. Murphy, the present leader of the Tammany organization. Walker has just returned to Croker's Irish estate and claims to have received this information from the former chieftain himself.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, July 16.—On Wednesday the boys of the Zelenko Camp, Oliverea, visited Shandaken, and played two baseball matches with the Shandaken Institute. The junior match resulted in a draw, the score being 6-6. The principal match resulted in a victory for the home team by 11 to 2. For Shandaken runs were made by Coons, Townsend, DeGraff, Peet, Ellsworth, Steinmann, Machado.

Arrivals at The Glenbrook this week include Mr. and Mrs. Cesar A. Gomez and family, and J. W. J. Sanchez, Havana, Cuba; M. Yglesias, Brooklyn; W. L. Steinmann, Paterson, N. J.

Chauncey DeGraff of New York spent last Sunday in Shandaken on a visit to his son, Barth DeGraff, of Shandaken Institute.

A party of twenty from Shandaken had a hayride to Phoenicia last Saturday evening to attend the vaudeville performance given in the Odd Fellows' Hall, in aid of the funds of the hose company. Notwithstanding the rain, a most pleasant time was had.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Elvey of Phoenicia were in town on Tuesday.

Eli Miller, while working at Shandaken Institute, where he is superintendent, cut his hand so badly as to need medical attention. Dr. Baldwin of Pine Hill put several stitches in the injured fingers and Mr. Miller's friends will be glad to know that no permanent injury is likely to result from the accident.

PLATTEKILL.

Plattekill, July 16.—The sermon preached in the M. E. Church Sunday morning by the Rev. J. E. Lovejoy was very much appreciated by the congregation. The ladies of the congregation brought bouquets of flowers to be sent to the poor children living in the East Side of New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hartney are entertaining relatives from Jersey City.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark of Marlborough visited Mr. and Mrs. S. Birdsall last Sunday.

Mrs. Lewis Piper is visiting friends in this place. Her daughter, Miss Lulu Piper, is assisting Mrs. A. Cappentar through boarding season.

The annual church fair will be held on the M. E. Church grounds, Friday evening, July 30, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. M. Cubberly and daughter Marian, of Newburgh have returned home after spending a few days with Mrs. Francis Garrison.

Miss Edith Heaton of Clintondale, visited at the Minard home on Sunday last.

The young people of this place are practicing twice a week for a concert to be held in the M. E. Church Saturday evening August 8.

How a Nation Was Made

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

"Count," said King Victor Emmanuel at a time when both were playing a diplomatic game to keep the European powers from standing in their way of affecting the unity of Italy, "on whom can you rely to befriend us?"

"No one," was the laconic reply.

"In that case we shall have to fight them all, which means we shall not succeed in our purpose."

"I have but one object, your majesty, in what I am doing now. I wish to compel the emperor of France to decide in our favor. He is the only sovereign who wavers as to what is his interest. He is supposed to have been elected by the people, and the cause of the people against those who rule by divine right is growing stronger every day. In half a century it will be the main question of the day. Ours is the cause of the oppressed against oppressors. Therefore it is the cause for which the Napoleonic dynasty stands. On the other side the emperor of France cannot ignore his interests on the side of the church. If I can get a lever by which I may pry him over to our side we win. He is too powerful for any of the other powers to oppose."

"But how get such a lever?"

"Does your majesty remember the Princess Paolini?"

"The woman who turned the heads of all the men in the capital last winter and caused three duels?"

"The same. She is enthusiastic for Italian unity. She came to me to ask how she could serve her country. At the time I was wishing for that lever I have mentioned. I told her to go to Paris, worm herself into the confidence of some one close to the emperor and, if possible, possess herself of a state secret that Napoleon would not have known. He hates our main enemy, Austria, and, whatsoever action he takes with us, will in the end play her false. If we can get some written evidence as to what he intends for the power that deserted the husband of Marie Louise to join the allies we can restore it to him in exchange for his good will in our present necessities."

* * * * * * *

In a chateau near Paris the Princess Paolini was sitting in an easy chair, while Emile Levoisier sat near. Levoisier was the Emperor Napoleon's private secretary.

"I dare say," remarked the princess, "that the emperor reposes great faith in one who must necessarily know his secrets."

"I am a locked safe," was the reply.

"Iron safe locks may be picked," pursued the princess, "by those possessing mechanical skill. Were I the repository of state papers of great importance I should keep them on my person."

"That's exactly where"—

He stopped short. He did not suspect this woman of having any interest in his documents, but it was not the part of one in his position to tell any one where he kept his important papers. But his mind was rather on the woman than on his documents, for she had enthralled him.

Presently she said she felt faint and would like a glass of wine. He called a servant, and a decanter and glasses were brought. He poured a glass of the wine for her, looking at her anxiously. She sipped it languidly and said:

"To drink alone is like kissing waxy lips. Drink with me."

Levoisier poured himself a glass of the wine and was about to drink when she put her hand on his.

"In the closet of my room are some biscuit that I invariably take with wine between meals. Will you go and get one for me?"

"I will send"—

She looked at him as if hurt that he would not himself do this favor for her, and, rising, he left the room. He had no sooner gone than she took a powder from her corsage and dropped it in the glass he had left. He returned in a few minutes with the biscuit, and they drank together.

It was not long before Levoisier began to nod, and, rising, he staggered to a lounge and lay down. He was soon in a deep sleep, and the princess, searching his pockets, found a document. It proved to be a memorandum of a proposition to be made to the czar of Russia for an alliance against Austria with reference to disposition of certain Balkan provinces. Leaving Levoisier sleeping on the lounge, she went to her room, gathered what she needed for immediate use and left the chateau.

Two days later she stood in Cavour's cabinet.

"Well," he asked anxiously, "what success?"

The princess handed him the stolen document. He cast his eyes over it rapidly, then muttered thanks that were inaudible.

"I fear that your highness has everything a woman can wish for," he said, "and I shall not be able to reward you."

"I have done it for Italy," was the reply.

Cavour waited for advices from the Tuileries, which came in due time. An Italian princess had possessed herself of a paper important to the emperor. If the government would see that it was returned unused the emperor would reciprocate. The paper was returned and a request made that Napoleon would not interfere with Victor Emmanuel's efforts to establish Italian unity. The request was granted.

TWO NEW REVOLTS START IN MEXICO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, July 16.—With Mexico's new provisional government serving its first day in office, reports of two new revolts were received here today. One of these is said to have the backing of Gen. Huerta.

Octavio Campero, Constitutionalist agent here, announced that Fidencio Hernandez, ex-president of the Mexicon congress, had organized Indians in the state of Oaxaca in behalf of Felix Diaz and that Huerta had turned over to Hernandez all the arms landed from the liner Yprianga. He declared that Huerta had ordered several battalions of the regular army to co-operate with Hernandez.

Campero expects the Mexican troops before Vera Cruz to join this revolt.

The Federal garrison at Tlacotalpan has declared for Felix Diaz. These rebels are led by Jefe Politico Aguirre and declare they will cooperate with Emiliano Zapata.

THE CITIZENS' LEAGUE.

County Agent Active—Commendation for the Rev. Dr. Pringle.

Work is going on very successfully in Ulster county under the direction of the Rev. W. H. Seiple county superintendent of the Citizens' League. Mr. Seiple has been on the work faithfully and has covered a great deal of ground since the first of May. By the generosity of some of his friends, Mr. Seiple was presented with a new Ford automobile, which he has already learned to master, and uses in the work. He is holding Sunday night meeting in the various churches, and working during the week along league lines. The other counties along the Hudson river valley are also aggressively at work. At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' League of Orange county, held at Middletown, July 1, the following resolutions were adopted.

"Whereas. Dr. William Pringle, who having been superintendent of the Citizens' League of Orange county from its organization until June the first, 1914, has become District Superintendent of the Citizens' League of this and neighboring counties and has, therefore, ceased to give his time exclusively to this county.

"Resolved, that the Executive Committee of the Citizens' League of Orange county express its sincere appreciation of the vigorous and discreet efforts of Dr. Pringle in the pioneer work of the league in this county, and his fidelity to the work through all the difficulties naturally attending the period of organization.

"And further, we hereby convey to him our most hearty thanks for his wise counsel from the beginning until now, and also for a promise of a continuance of his interest and support to the extent that his enlarged field of activities will permit. And we still further record our appreciation of the fact of the spirit of harmony and co-operation that prevailed in the executive committee and throughout the organization as a result of his strong Christian leadership."

The executive committee also expressed their pleasure of the efforts of the Middletown, Cornwall and Warwick branches of the league to enlarge their membership, and the success already attending same.

Body Found on Beach.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Winthrop, Mass., July 16.—The body of a well dressed unidentified woman was found on Winthrop Beach early today It is supposed she came to Winthrop or to the beach in the night, drowned herself, and was left upon the beach by the receding tide. The police, however, believe they have a murder mystery to solve and point out that a woman always will remove some garments before trying to drown herself.

CORDTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, July 16.—The Federal League won its first victory over organized baseball today when the appellate court reversed the decision of Superior Judge Charles M. Foell, restraining George H. Johnson, the Indian baseball pitcher who left the Cincinnati Nationals and went to the Kansas City Federal League club from playing with the latter organization.

Any One
Of the Vast Army

of former coffee drinkers can tell of freedom from coffee troubles since the change to Postum—

"There's a Reason"

The coffee-drug, caffeine, is a common but often unsuspected cause of headache, nervousness, heart flutter, indigestion, and various other ills

Postum is the easy, pleasant way back to comfort. It is free from caffeine or any other drug—has fine color—a delightful Java-like taste, and is within reach of all.

Regular Postum—must be boiled—15c and 25c pkgs.
Instant Postum—a soluble powder—made in the cup with hot water instantly—30c and 50c tins.

Grocers sell both kinds, and the cost per cup is about the same.

All the friends of the congregation and their friends are invited to attend these teas.

Curlette-Stock.

Miss Margaret Stock of Brewster and Samuel Curlette were married at St. Peter's Church on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George J. Wermuth. The groom is the well-known basketball player and has been playing here several seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Curlette will reside in Camden, N. J.

O'Leary-Salley.

St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh, was the scene this morning, at half after seven o'clock of a notable wedding which was of interest to many Kingstonians. At that hour, Miss Elizabeth Honora Salley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Salley of Port Jervis, and niece of the Rev. Dr. Michael Salley of Newburgh, N. Y., became the bride of Dr. John George O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary of Canandaigua, N. Y., and brother of Dr. William J. O'Leary of this city. Long before the hour for the service, the church began to be filled with guests who were entertained by a delightful prenuptial musical program rendered by a fine orchestra supplementing the music of the new organ recently installed in the church. At the appointed time the heralding notes of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, announced the approach of the bridal party, which was met in the sanctuary by the groom; his best man, his brother, Dr. William J. O'Leary; and the Rev. Dr. Salley, for many years the beloved pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh, who performed the ceremony. Miss Salley was a beautiful and stately bride in her exquisite bridal robe of white satin with court train, draped with a tunic of Honiton lace. She wore a lace veil with cap caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. Her one ornament was a necklace of pearls and amethysts, (her birth stones) which had been specially designed by the doctor for his gift to his bride. Miss Salley entered the church, escorted by her brother, John P. Salley of Chicago, who gave her away. The attendants were Miss Mary Ellen Toomey, of Hartwood, New York, who acted as maid of honor and who was handsomely gowned in white crepe de chene and who wore a picture hat, and carried pink roses; the Misses Kathrine Molloy, of New York and Mary MacLennan of London, Ontario, who as bridesmaids were charming in gowns of peach-colored crepe de chene and who wore picture hats of white and peach colored chiffon. They carried sweet peas. Two sweet little maidens, Miss Mary Donovan of Canandaigua, niece of the groom, and Miss Helen Flannigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Flannigan of Newburgh, were the flower girls. They were daintily attired in little French gowns of white net over pink silk, with touches of pale blue, and wore bewitching little French bonnets tied with long pink chiffon scarfs, and carried baskets of pink sweet peas and swansonia. Master John Edward Salley, a cousin of the bride, acted as ring bearer and later assisted his uncle, the Rev. Dr. Salley as altar boy. Dr. William J. O'Leary acted as best man, and the ushers were Edward M. Salley, of Jersey City, a cousin of the bride; Dr. Joseph S. Baldwin, Dr. Frank Dealey and Dr. James W. Babcock, all of New York city. The high nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. James A. MacDonnell, a former assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh, now of Rosendale, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Prendergast, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, as deacon; the Rev. Stephen Connolly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, as sub-deacon; and the Rev. Joseph Geiss, assistant at St. Patrick's, Newburgh, as master of ceremonies. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, while the altar was especially lovely with its lights and cut flowers. The mass was sung by the full choir of the church, with the organ, assisted by the orchestra. Following the service at the church, the guests were conveyed to the Palatine Hotel where a reception was held in the spacious parlors. The elaborate wedding breakfast was served in the banquet hall of the Palatine which was artistically decorated with flowers and greenery appropriate to the occasion. The bridal table was especially picturesque with its decorations of "Golden Gate" roses of peach blow tint, white flowers and smilax. The bride was the recipient of a profusion of rich and costly gifts. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary left for their wedding journey and on their return they will make their home at No. 371 Albany Avenue, this city, where they will be "at home" to their friends after September first. Dr. O'Leary, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, N. Y., being president of his class of 1913 and of St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, has since his coming to Kingston to practice early in the summer, already established himself as one of the leading physicians of the city. Among the guests from this city, attending the wedding and reception were; Dr. and Mrs. Mark O'Meara., Dr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy, Donald Sweeney, Miss Hagelweide, and Miss Burns while Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary and little granddaughter, Miss Mary Donovan of Canandaigua, N. Y., who have been guests of Dr. W. J. O'Leary went down to the wedding from this city.

Civil War Mock Currency.

An antiquarian society has recently obtained one of the most interesting collections in the country. It consists of the commercial tokens and mock coins issued by tradesmen during the Civil war when small change of the government stamp became a rarity. There are in the collection about one thousand nine hundred varieties of tokens.

What He Would Paint Next.

We went up to the Caxton building the other day to call on an artistic friend. We found him doing a war dance about his studio. "What on earth has happened?" we asked. "I've sold that painting," he cried. "Fine!" said we. "What are you going to paint next?" "The town!" And he did, you know.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TWO NEW REVOLTS START IN MEXICO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, July 16.—With Mexico's new provisional government serving its first day in office, reports of two new revolts were received here today. One of these is said to have the backing of Gen. Huerta.

Octavio Campero, Constitutionalist agent here, announced that Fidencio Hernandez, ex-president of the Mexicon congress, had organized Indians in the state of Oaxaca in behalf of Felix Diaz and that Huerta had turned over to Hernandez all the arms landed from the liner Yprianga. He declared that Huerta had ordered several battalions of the regular army to co-operate with Hernandez.

Campero expects the Mexican troops before Vera Cruz to join this revolt.

The Federal garrison at Tlacotalpan has declared for Felix Diaz. These rebels are led by Jefe Politico Aguirre and declare they will cooperate with Emiliano Zapata.

Miss Salley was a beautiful and stately bride in her exquisite bridal robe of white satin with court train, draped with a tunic of Honiton lace. She wore a lace veil with cap caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. Her one ornament was a necklace of pearls and amethysts, (her birth stones) which had been specially designed by the doctor for his gift to his bride. Miss Salley entered the church, escorted by her brother, John P. Salley of Chicago, who gave her away. The attendants were Miss Mary Ellen Toomey, of Hartwood, New York, who acted as maid of honor and who was handsomely gowned in white crepe de chene and who wore a picture hat, and carried pink roses; the Misses Kathrine Molloy, of New York and Mary MacLaren of London, Ontario, who as bridesmaids were charming in gowns of peach-colored crepe de chene and who wore picture hats of [illegible] and peach colored chiffon. They carried sweet peas. Two sweet little maidens, Miss Mary Donovan of Canandaigua, niece of the groom, and Miss Helen Flannigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Flannigan of Newburgh, were the flower girls. They were daintily attired in little French gowns of white net over pink silk, with touches of pale blue, and wore bewitching little French bonnets tied with long pink chiffon scarfs, and carried baskets of pink sweet peas and swansonia. Master John Edward Salley, a cousin of the bride, acted as ring bearer and later assisted his uncle, the Rev. Dr. Salley as altar boy. Dr. William J. O'Leary acted as best man, and the ushers were Edward M. Salley, of Jersey City, a cousin of the bride; Dr. Joseph S. Baldwin, Dr. Frank Dealey and Dr. James W. Babcock, all of New York city. The high nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. James A. MacDonnell, a former assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh, now of Rosendale, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Prendergast, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church, as deacon; the Rev. Stephen Connolly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, as sub-deacon; and the Rev. Joseph Geiss, assistant at St. Patrick's, Newburgh, as master of ceremonies. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, while the altar was especially lovely with its lights and cut flowers. The mass was sung by the full choir of the church, with the organ, assisted by the orchestra. Following the service at the church, the guests were conveyed to the Palatine Hotel where a reception was held in the spacious parlors. The elaborate wedding breakfast was served in the banquet hall of the Palatine which was artistically decorated with flowers and greenery appropriate to the occasion. The bridal table was especially picturesque with its decorations of "Golden Gate" roses of peach blow tint, white flowers and smilax. The bride was the recipient of a profusion of rich and costly gifts. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary left for their wedding journey and on their return they will make their home at No. 371 Albany Avenue, this city, where they will be "at home" to their friends after September first. Dr. O'Leary, a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, N. Y., being president of his class of 1913 and of St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, has since his coming to Kingston to practice early in the summer, already established himself as one of the leading physicians of the city. Among the guests from this city, attending the wedding and reception were; Dr. and Mrs. Mark O'Meara, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. John Molloy, Donald Sweeney, Miss Hagadweide, and Miss Burns while Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary and little granddaughter, Miss Mary Donovan of Canandaigua, N. Y., who have been guests of Dr. W. J. O'Leary went down to the wedding from this city.

OLIVEREA.

Olivorea, July 16.—B. H. Satterlee made a business trip to Kingston Wednesday.

Miss Mary Chase has returned from a visit at Oneonta.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Poughkeepsie are spending a few days with Mr. Smith's sister, Mrs. B. H. Satterlee.

Hay is a good crop in this vicinity and the farmers are waiting for weather favorable for harvesting it.

The ball team from Zelenko's school, this place, was defeated at Shandaken Wednesday afternoon by a team composed of players from Shandaken, Bushnellsville and Pine Hill.

Several city guests are now at the Cold Spring Cottage, Edward Dutcher, proprietor.

A Case of Discipline.

Some excitement was created in Esopus Tuesday evening when loud wails of a woman in distress were heard from a house. A rescue party left after being told that only one of the children was being chastised, and the mother had interfered.

Memorial Service on the Albany.

At 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, while the funeral of Capt. A. Eltinge Anderson was being held at Greenkill Park Inn, a brief memorial service was held on the day line steamer Albany, which runs on the Mary Powell schedule between Rondout and New York.

Navigation Notes.

The sidewheeler Oswego is bound down the river with the tow from Albany. The Baker also has a tow down the river. The John H. Cordts is bound up the river from New York.

The tug Ingalls, which has been undergoing repairs at the Cornell shops, has gone into commission again and will be at work in Haverstraw bay.

The Mary Powell will take the Columbia College students to West Point on Saturday.

Nevis is Free.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Waukesha, Wis., July 16.—A telegram received today from Mexico City from Charles Nevis of this city says he is free, after having been sentenced to death by Huerta. His wire says: "Given death penalty. Imprisoned forty one days; starved and tortured. Accused of being a Villa spy. Arrested with Vice Consul Silliman under name of Ridley. Free at last but exhausted from treatment given me by Mexican government.

Huerta at Cordoba.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vera Cruz, July 16.—General Huerta is reported to have arrived at Cordoba today. He is expected to proceed to Puerto Mexico. His family arrived here today.

Civil War Mock Currency.

An antiquarian society has recently obtained one of the most interesting collections in the country. It consists of the commercial tokens and mock coins issued by tradesmen during the Civil war when small change of the government stamp became a rarity. There are in the collection about one thousand nine hundred varieties of tokens.

What He Would Paint Next.

We went up to the Caxton building the other day to call on an artistic friend. We found him doing a war dance about his studio. "What on earth has happened?" we asked. "I've sold that painting," he cried. "Fine!" said we. "What are you going to paint next?" "The town!" And he did, you know.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Woman's World

New England Novelist Wins $10,000 Prize With Her First Play.

MISS ALICE BROWN.

The prize of $10,000 offered on March 21, 1913, by Winthrop Ames, formerly director of the New theater and now proprietor of the Little and Booth theaters, New York, for the best American play, has been awarded to a woman.

Miss Alice Brown of Boston, novelist and short story writer of New England life and types, is the victor in the contest. The cash prize of $10,000 has already been paid to her, and her play, "Children of Earth," is in preparation for production early next season, probably at the Booth theater.

Miss Brown, who thus finds herself conspicuous in the theatrical world, was born at Hampton Falls, N. H., in 1857. She gained her education at Robinson seminary, Exeter, N. H., from which she was graduated in 1876. Almost immediately she took up literary work. Her insight into New England character and her knowledge of the life of which she was a part have been great factors in her success.

Her first book, "Meadow Grass," a collection of short stories, brought her immediate recognition. She has also published a volume of poems, a book of essays on travel, a great number of short stories that have first appeared in magazines and several ambitious novels. The best known of the latter are "The Story of Thyrza" and "Rose MacLeod."

MOTORING OUTFITS.

Convenience and Good Looks Are Combined In Outing Garments.

Motoring garb is of all varieties of convenience. The quite unattractive features that at first characterized coats and headgear have been eliminated. Motoring hats and bonnets are often charming affairs, and motoring wraps are so contrived that they may be used for any emergency that calls for an outing coat. Illustrated here is a motoring costume that includes a dainty straw bonnet, with a long veil of chiffon and a short coat of checked materials. The little toilet outfit is a convenience for the woman who motors or for the woman traveler.

MOTORING COAT AND BONNET.

Hint For Week Enders.

To keep your neckwear smooth and fresh when traveling with a suit case put such things between the different leaves of a magazine, which takes up less room than a box and is very convenient when removed to the dresser drawer. It is especially suited to laundered neckwear and ribbons.

Taking on Trust.

It is far better that we trust and be deceived occasionally than not to trust at all. Not only must we trust one another, but there are many things in life that we must take on trust—things that we do not understand and are mysteries to us. Even love is a mystery.—W. J. Bryan.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

THE delight of camp life lies in its utter freedom and the reduction of all things to their utmost simplicity. This very simplicity calls for much common sense in planning the kitchen arrangements, for the recipes of ordinary life are not practical without markets near at hand.

It is in most instances possible to procure chickens, fresh eggs and milk, which, of course, make the menus less monotonous than if one is reduced to evaporated and condensed milk and desiccated eggs, though much that is edible may be contrived even with these supplies.

Fish is a staple of camp menus, for usually the camp is near water. In preparing fish there are several general rules to follow. First, olive oil is best to fry them in, and, next to oil, butter; second, only large fish should be boiled; third, any fish that are to be fried must be wiped dry or they will absorb too much grease, and the fat must be very hot before the fish are put in; fourth, if the fish have been caught in muddy water rub salt on the backbone and put them in strong brine for an hour or more before cooking.

In autumn birds will probably be a feature part of the menu, and to roast them with their feathers on is the easiest and the primitive way. Open the bird as usual and draw it; then cover it with wet clay, bury it in hot coals and in forty minutes take it from the coals and peel off the clay, and the feathers and skin will come also. This is a guide's method.

Eggs may be roasted in the coals or, rather, in hot ashes. Cover them and keep enough fire on top to insure steady heat, and in six minutes they will be done.

Soup for cold days is more than acceptable. Potato soup is at once nourishing and delicious. Peel and cut into slices a pound of potatoes. Chop up two onions and put all into a saucepan with an ounce of fat. Cook for five minutes with a lid over the pan; then add a pint of water and boil gently until all are reduced to a pulp. Add half an ounce of washed sago and a pint of milk. Cook again until the sago is transparent; then season with pepper and salt.

Fruits, except berries, are almost unknown in the average camp. Lemons must be provided, and dried fruits make many good things. Where fresh berries or other fruits are at hand a sauce made from them is often a substitute for milk and sugar. Boil the fresh fruit until it is pulp and can be mashed. Press it through cheesecloth, sweeten according to taste, and when it is to be served heat it and, if desired, add spices.

This sauce is excellent on rogrod, a favorite dish of the Swedes and Norwegians. To make it take one and a half quarts of water and add one and a half quarts of acid fruit juice and two heaping cupfuls of sugar. Let these ingredients come to a boil with a stick of cinnamon tied in cheesecloth, which is, of course, taken out later. While the mixture is boiling stir in slowly so that it will not be lumpy a pound of soaked sago or a pound and a half of arrowroot; then boil it for fifteen minutes and turn into cups to cool and form.

Air balls are another good dessert. Make a dough as for cream of tartar biscuits and cut in small squares. Fry these in exceedingly hot fat like doughnuts, lay them on paper to drain off the grease, then dip them in hot simmered molasses. Serve them hot.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

How to Make Two Dresses Look Like Four.

Last summer a clever girl with very few pennies made two dresses look like four, which is, you will admit, quite an accomplishment. There is no reason why her example cannot be followed this year.

She bought materials for two ratine dresses, one of blue and one white. She made them exactly alike, with belted Russian coats with rather short tunics. The blue coat had a white collar and cuffs, and the white coat had a blue collar and cuffs. The blue skirt was a little more elaborate than the white, as it was meant for church wear.

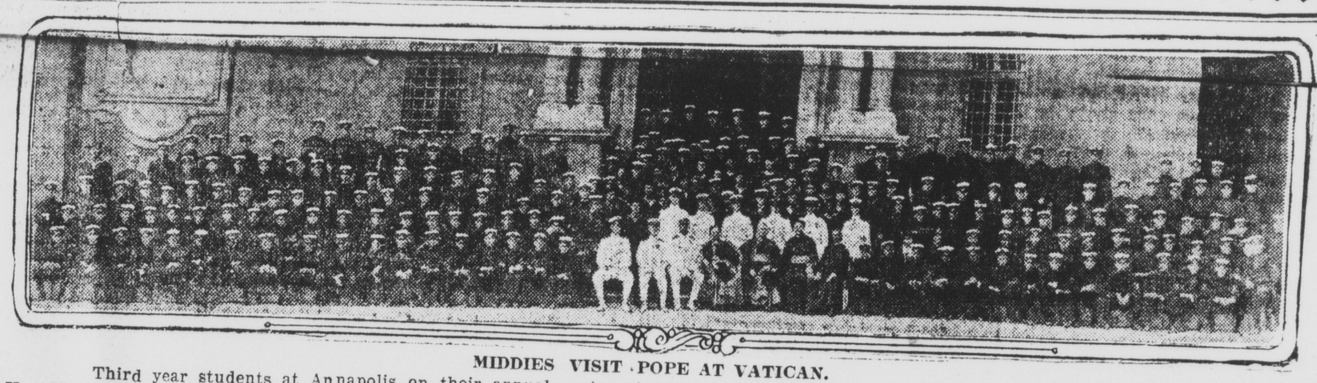

When she wanted a variety she changed coats, wearing the blue coat with the white skirt and vice versa. With the addition of a black straw shade hat decorated with a wreath of field flowers and a stiff white walking hat with a black quilt, she was either very dressy or quite tailor made. The coats required no blouse beneath and so were not too warm for even very hot days, but either skirt could be worn with a pretty lingerie blouse if she so desired.

How to Remove Superfluous Hair.

The French method of removing superfluous hair consists of applying peroxide and ammonia to the offending skin on alternate nights. The treatment will have to be continued for several months before it will destroy the hair, but there will be no danger of the hair ever returning.

Chicken Hawk in Flight.

Saw chicken hawk in flight, which suggests the motion of a motorcar. No flapping, no soaring, but a series of quick, explosive beats of the wings, each sending the bird forward in a leap of several yards. The flicker gives five strokes, then a jump.—From "A Farmer's Notebook."

MIDDIES VISIT POPE AT VATICAN.

Third year students at Annapolis on their annual cruise visited the Vatican in Rome where they gained audience with Pope Pius X. The middies are here seen posing on the Vatican steps after having received the Pope's blessing.

ACTOR TO SUE GOVERNOR BREWER FOR ALIENATION.

New York, July 16.—Edward Davis, formerly a minister, now an actor, declares that he intends to bring suit against Governor Brewer of Mississippi for the alienation of his wife's affection. Miss Blood has yet made no statement relative to the case but Governor Brewer declares he does not know Miss Blood, the wife of Ed. Davis.

The Test of Character.

But responsibility is the great character developer, and very few of us really know what we can do until we are put to the test. The market is long on men who can take orders, but short on those who can intelligently issue them. Responsibility requires a certain amount of initiative—the willingness to act when occasion demands and the courage to act under honest effort and take the consequences. Of course you may fail, but you can't tell whether you will succeed unless you try, and having tried the utmost of your ability and failed is better than never to have tried at all—better because in every loss there is the compensation of experience, while mere inaction means mental and physical stagnation, the dam and sire of annihilation.—Maurice Switzer in Leslie's.

Very Red Tape.

A burglar entering a house by a ladder in a small Prussian town fell and broke his leg when making off with his booty. An inquiry into the accident revealed that, contrary to the bylaws of the town, the house owner's ladder was not provided with strong iron spikes at its base. The house owner was therefore ordered to pay all the hospital costs and further to give the burglar a substantial sum.—London Standard.

Fashion Frills.

No matter how high he may roll the bottom of his trousers, no young man ever succeeds in making his ankles exciting.—Galveston News.

Some of these newfangled skirts the women are wearing look like they were made of a tier of parasol covers half raised.—Pine Bluff (Ark.) Commercial.

"After next fall," says a manufacturer of women's clothing, "men will not be ashamed to see their wives dressed in the height of the season's fashions." Nor financially embarrassed?—Chicago News.

The Big Yacht Race.

Tom Lipton will have two boats, from which he will select the faster to sail for the America's cup. But that won't be enough.—Los Angeles Times.

The dimensions of Shamrock IV., which were so jealously guarded, are now a revealed secret, and the yachting experts are free to air their theories. But the America's cup races will be decided by a real contest and not by clubroom arguments.—New York World.

Just Slanders.

Nearly every mother believes her daughter-in-law won her husband by unfair means.—Philadelphia Ledger.

One reason a woman will not permit her husband to criticise her friends is that she considers it an invasion of her sacred rights.—Topeka Capital.

We wonder if a woman member of congress could resist the temptation to send for samples of dress goods under her frank?—Ohio State Journal.

Over the Ocean.

Germany is said to want the Philippines. That is the way it goes—nobody is ever satisfied with his own troubles.—Chicago News.

In addition to the well known waves, Britannia now rules the links. However, there will be other days and other teeings-off.—New York World.

The Greeks, according to the report of the Carnegie commission on the Balkan wars, were worse than other participants in atrocities. Exit "The Terrible Turk."—New York Sun.

McREYNOLDS PICKED AS PROBABLE SUCCESSOR TO LATE JUSTICE LURTON.

(Attorney General McReynolds.)

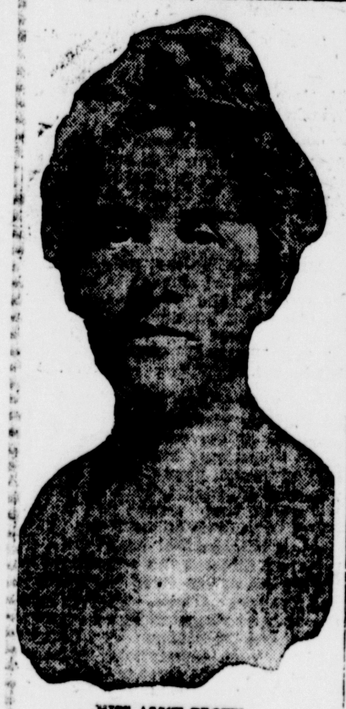

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson is understood in administration circles to favor the appointment of Attorney General James W. McReynolds to succeed the late Supreme Court Justice H. H. Lurton. Mr. McReynolds is said to have the support of several cabinet members. He will also be backed by the Tennessee Democratic delegation in Congress.

Harder Task to Do Present Duty.

Pleasant it is to entertain the picture of ourselves in some future scene, planning wisely, feeling nobly, and executing with the holy triumph of the will; but it is a different thing, not in the green avenues of the future, but in the hot dust of the present moment, to do the duty that waits and wants us.—James Martineau.

In autumn birds will probably be a fo[illegible] most part of the menu, and to roast them with their feathers on is the easiest and the primitive way. Open the bird as usual and draw it; then cover it with wet clay, bury it in hot coals and in forty minutes take it from the coals and peel off the clay, and the feathers and skin will come also. This is a guide's method.

Eggs may be roasted in the coals or, rather, in hot ashes. Cover them and keep enough fire on top to insure steady heat, and in six minutes they will be done.

Soup for cold days is more than acceptable. Potato soup is at once nourishing and delicious. Peel and cut into slices a pound of potatoes. Chop up two onions and put all into a saucepan with an ounce of fat. Cook for five minutes with a lid over the pan; then add a pint of water and boil gently until all are reduced to a pulp. Add half an ounce of washed sago and a pint of milk. Cook again until the sago is transparent; then season with pepper and salt.

Fruits, except berries, are almost unknown in the average camp. Lemons must be provided, and dried fruits make many good things. Where fresh berries or other fruits are at hand a sauce made from them is often a substitute for milk and sugar. Boil the fresh fruit until it is pulp and can be mashed. Press it through cheesecloth, sweeten according to taste, and when it is to be served heat it and, if desired, add spices.

This sauce is excellent on rogrod, a favorite dish of the Swedes and Norwegians. To make it take one and a half quarts of water and add one and a half quarts of acid fruit juice and two heaping cupfuls of sugar. Let these ingredients come to a boil with a stick of cinnamon tied in cheesecloth, which is, of course, taken out later. While the mixture is boiling stir in slowly so that it will not be lumpy a pound of soaked sago or a pound and a half of arrowroot; then boil it for fifteen minutes and turn into cups to cool and form.

Air balls are another good dessert. Make a dough as for cream of tartar biscuits and cut in small squares. Fry these in exceedingly hot fat like doughnuts, lay them on paper to drain off the grease, then dip them in hot simmered molasses. Serve them hot.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

How to Make Two Dresses Look Like Four.

Last summer a clever girl with very few pennies made two dresses look like four, which is, you will admit, quite an accomplishment. There is no reason why her example cannot be followed this year.

She bought materials for two ratine dresses, one of blue and one white. She made them exactly alike, with belted Russian coats with rather short tunics. The blue coat had a white collar and cuffs, and the white coat had a blue collar and cuffs. The blue skirt was a little more elaborate than the white, as it was meant for church wear.

When she wanted a variety she changed coats, wearing the blue coat with the white skirt and vice versa. With the addition of a black straw shade hat decorated with a wreath of field flowers and a stiff white walking hat with a black quilt, she was either very dressy or quite tailor made. The coats required no blouse beneath and so were not too warm for even very hot days, but either skirt could be worn with a pretty lingerie blouse if she so desired.

How to Remove Superfluous Hair.

The French method of removing superfluous hair consists of applying peroxide and ammonia to the offending skin on alternate nights. The treatment will have to be continued for several months before it will destroy the hair, but there will be no danger of the hair ever returning.

Chicken Hawk in Flight.

Saw chicken hawk in flight, which suggests the motion of a motorcar. No flapping, no soaring, but a series of quick, explosive beats of the wings, each sending the bird forward in a leap of several yards. The flicker gives five strokes, then a jump.—From "A Farmer's Notebook."

ACTOR TO SUE GOVERNOR BREWER FOR ALIENATION.

New York, July 16.—Edward Davis, formerly a minister, now an actor, declares that he intends to bring suit against Governor Brewer of Mississippi for the alienation of his wife's affection. Miss Blood has yet made no statement relative to the case but Governor Brewer declares he does not know Miss Blood, the wife of Ed. Davis.

The Test of Character.

But responsibility is the great character developer, and very few of us really know what we can do until we are put to the test. The market is long on men who can take orders, but short on those who can intelligently issue them. Responsibility requires a certain amount of initiative—the willingness to act when occasion demands and the courage to go under honest effort and take the consequences. Of course you may fail; you can't tell whether you will succeed unless you try, and having tried the utmost of your ability and failed is better than never to have tried at all—better because in every loss is the compensation of experience, while mere inaction means mental and physical stagnation, the dam and sire of annihilation.—Maurice Switzer in Leslie's.

Very Red Tape.

A burglar entering a house by a ladder in a small Prussian town fell and broke his leg when making off with his booty. An inquiry into the accident revealed that, contrary to the bylaws of the town, the house owner's ladder was not provided with strong iron spikes at its base. The house owner was therefore ordered to pay all the hospital costs and further to give the burglar a substantial sum.—London Standard.

McREYNOLDS PICKED AS PROBABLE SUCCESSOR TO LATE JUSTICE LURTON.

(Attorney General McReynolds.)

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson is understood in administration circles to favor the appointment of Attorney General James W. McReynolds to succeed the late Supreme Court Justice H. H. Lurton. Mr. McReynolds is said to have the support of several cabinet members. He will also be backed by the Tennessee Democratic delegation in Congress.

Harder Task to Do Present Duty.

Pleasant it is to entertain the picture of ourselves in some future scene, planning wisely, feeling nobly, and executing with the holy triumph of the will; but it is a different thing, not in the green avenues of the future, but in the hot dust of the present moment, to do the duty that waits and wants us.—James Martineau.

REVOLUTIONISTS MUST BEHAVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—The Constitutionalists must prevent disorder and anarchy in the taking over of Mexico City, for if they do not act properly there will be no recognition of their government by the United States. Positive word to this effect today came from the White House.

Emphasis was placed by the White House on the fact that Europe will look to the United States for leadership so far as the recognition of the Constitutionalists is concerned and without such recognition the Carranza government could not survive.

The administration, however, did not seem to be worried over this and made no effort to conceal its elation over Huerta's abdication. Confident predictions were made that the Constitutionalists will conduct themselves in such fashion as to silence their detractors; that there will be no break between Villa and Carranza and nothing to cast discredit on the ability or integrity of the Constitutionalist leaders.

The administration is not yet prepared to face the question of recognizing Carbajal.

Secretary of State Byran and Senor Riano, the Spanish ambassador, conferred on the transition of authority from the present regime to the Constitutionalists. Bryan stated that the important phases of the transition are thoroughly understood by diplomats here, but he added none of the details had as yet been discussed. It is believed at the state department that the recognition of Carbajal will not give this government any concern as his tenancy as provisional president of Mexico will be short.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—There were evidences of further unrest in Wall street at the opening of the stock market today. The tone was nervous and unsettled and nearly all stocks were lower. Most attention was attracted to New York, New Haven and Hartford, whose directors meet this afternoon to attempt to consider plans for the the financial assistance of this tottering system. After making a new low record yesterday New Haven began today at 51, for the loss of ¼. Within twenty minutes the stock had declined to 50. Missouri Pacific, which also needs financial readjustment, also was prominent. This stock opened at 10⅝ for a decline of ⅜. Reading was ⅛ lower on the first transaction but within a few minutes increased its loss. Pennsylvania lost one point and the same amount of loss was sustained by Baltimore and Ohio. New York Central, which has been pressed for sale for some time, declined 1½. United States Steel common began ⅛ off and fractional losses were sustained also in Amalgamated Copper, Western Union, American Car and Foundry, Erie and Northern Pacific. American Tobacco was ¾ higher and Canadian Pacific, which was influenced by its London strength, was 1¼ up. Southern Pacific also made a fractional advance. The curb was nervous. Americans in London shaded their best prices.

Noon—Operations all through the morning included bear attacks, covering of shorts and investment buying in various stocks, creating a highly nervous situation with the tone feverish and unsettled. New Haven, after selling as low at 50¼, rallied to 50⅞. Amalgamated Copper declined ⅛ to 68⅞. Steel Common sold at 59½ against 60¼ at the opening. Reading, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were off ½. Call money loaning at 2¾ per cent.

2:30 p. m.—Fractional advances were sustained by some of the leading issues in the last hour's trading. The Gould issues were again prominent. The Denver & Rio Grande stocks were under pressure for a while, the Preferred falling more than 3 points to 9¾. Rock Island was also weak. Trading was quiet.

The stock market closed steady; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

The regular monthly meeting of the Spanish War Veterans of this city will be held at the armory this evening at 8 o'clock sharp. Former Captain R. F. Tompkins, of the old Company M, will be present and will speak. The delegates to the state convention, which was held in the city of Schenectady from July 6 to 8, will also be there and give their report. There is a great deal of important business to be transacted and all members of the camp are urged to be present. There will also be held the initiation of eight new candidates. The members who attended the state convention are B. F. Diamond, P. F. Halloran, E. D. Fitzgerald, J. C. Mullen, F. J. Thompson and Edwin Burhans.

The up river Past Commanders Association of the Order of Shepherds of Bethlehem held a very interesting meeting on Tuesday afternoon at Measter's Hall, Newburgh, Beacon, Poughkeepsie and Hudson being well represented, many of them remaining for the regular meeting of Star of Ulster, No. 56, in the evening, whose guests they were and who served them with abundant refreshments. In the evening both of the beautiful degrees of the order were put on the floor by the excellent degree team of Newburgh assisted by members of the local order, after which the officers were installed for the coming term by the prelate, George Seaman of Newburgh, who spoke in terms of highest praise of our local order. Although the evening was a busy one it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Wednesday evening a joint installation of the officers of Kosciusko Lodge and Aretas Lodge, I. O. O. F., was held in Odd Fellows' Hall, 635 Broadway, and was largely attended by members of the fraternity. MORE TROOPS MAY BE SENT TO VERA CRUZ

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—The possibility that additional troops may have to be sent to Vera Cruz to cope with any emergency that may arise in Mexico City by reason of the change in government there, was being considered today by Secretary of War Garrison and General Wotherspoon, chief of staff.

No immediate action will be taken, but it is understood that division commanders along the Texas border have been advised to keep their commands in readiness for immediate movement.

Funston's forces at Vera Cruz will be strengthened by marines from the ships under Admiral Badger's command. Sailors acting as an auxiliary force will bring the numerical strength of the American forces there up to nearly 20,000 men. No ships will be withdrawn from Vera Cruz pending the settlement of conditions in Mexico City.

LOCAL BASEBALL DOINGS.

Games Played or to be Played by the Home Teams.

The Eddyville baseball Club will not hold a dance Friday evening of this week but will hold one on Friday evening of next week, when excellent music will be furnished and a good time assured.

The Leader baseball team will play the senior team of the Y. M. C. A. this afternon at 6 o'clock on the Athletic Field. The game was scheduled to be played on Tuesday evening of this week but they were compelled to postpone it, because of the unsettled weather until today.

The Mercury A. C. of this city will play a game of baseball with the fast team from Tivoli on Sunday afternoon at Tivoli. Both teams are in fine trim and a hot game is expected. The Tivoli team is considered to be one of the fastest teams in this part of the state, and if the Mercury A. C. is victorious it will mean that they played some game of ball.

The Red Monograms were defeated by the Astors of Rhinebeck at the latter place on Wednesday afternoon, the score being 5 to 0. This was the first defeat for Eddie Sherer, the slab artist for the locals, for the season, but the hard hitting Astors had their batting clothes on and solved his curves. Dick Williams replaced him in the fifth inning. On Sunday the Monograms will play the Rhinecliff team at McVey's field.

The baseball game in the Sunday School League which was to have been played yesterday between the First Dutch and the Albany Avenue Churches, was not played as the team representing the First Reformed Sunday school did not appear. The game was forfeited to the other team. The next game in the league will be played betwe[illegible] Rondout Churches.

John Cuneo did not make a mistake a few few years ago when he signed up big Jay Kirke of Fleischmanns to play the infield. Jay hits like a fiend and acts as much like Honus Wagner when playing as anyone could imagine. After a season of two in the State and National Leagues he has finally signed up as first baseman with Cleveland. He is clouting the horse hide off the ball at every session lately.

The Manor A. C. baseball team will match their skill with the fast Centrals of this city on their grounds at Downs Park on Sunday afternoon. At the beginning of the season the two teams made a schedule of three games, the winner of two of them to be considered the faster team. This game Sunday will be the third one of the series. The Manors have been declared the stronger aggregation as they have already won the first two games, but have decided to play the third one just the same. The Manor team is composed of the following players: H. Johnson, M. Finch, J. Demler, F. Howard, F. Dowell, J. Stanford D. Van Buren. Any team wishing to arrange a game with this club may do so through the columns of this paper or by calling No. 1331 on the phone.

Kelly, who played with Kingston last year in the New York and New Jersey League, is batting around .450 for Bill McCabe's Poughkeepsie's team and according to the New York Mail all the big scouts are after him. The Mail says: "This Kelly person is the same young man who as Mike Costello had about seventy big league scouts spending half their time at St. Mary's College down in Maryland only a few years ago. Kelly, or Costello, is batting around .450, stealing a couple of dozen bases a day and has scored seven or eight assists from the outfield, from which one is led to suppose that he totes a pretty fair arm."

LATHAM'S HOME RUN.

It Figured in Fixing Upon Him the Title of "The Dude."

Charley Comiskey told the story of how Arlie Latham came to be called "the dude."

"One spring during Latham's term of service with the good old St. Louis Browns," said Comiskey, "he jumped into the opening game of the season and won us a victory by knocking out a home run in the last inning. Chris von der Ahe from his place in the grand stand saw Arlie make his sensational hit and naturally enthused. After the game 'der boss president' entered the clubhouse and in that particular dialect of his said to Latham:

"'Arlie, my poy, you must be glad that I, Chris, vas proud mit you, an' I vill show you vat my feelings is by giving you the present of somedings for you to wear on yourself. Take dis order on mine own tailor an' go an' dress up yourself.'

"Chris' order on the tailor read something like this:

"'Give to Arlie der t'ings vat he buys, an' send to me der bill.'

"Latham didn't do a thing on the strength of that order but replenish his wardrobe. For three days in succession he showed up at the ball park in a fine makeup, and every suit of clothes was brand new. On the fourth day Chris got a bill from the clothing people for $100. Naturally he sent for Latham and demanded an explanation.

"'Why, Chris, old pal,' said Latham, 'there's nothing to explain. Didn't you agree in that order you gave me to pay for what I bought, and haven't I just begun to buy? Why, old pal, I have only got three suits and expect to be measured for another this afternoon. What's wrong?'

"'Arlie,' replied Von der Ahe, 'you vas de one infernal dude in de pizness. I vill dis bill pay, but you vill yourself go to der tailor an' mit him explain vot I dink of der impudence of you yourself. You vill also stop mit de clothes you now have on an' do no more such foolishness mit der man vot pays your salary. Arlie, you vas one dude, an' if you play mit any errors dis afternoon I vill myself fine you all der bootiful clothes you have yourself bought.'

"From that day Latham became known to the baseball world as 'the dude.'"

Character.

Character is built out of circumstances. From exactly the same materials one man builds palaces, while another builds hovels.—G. H. Lewes.

Pretty Lively.

Miss Lamb, sister of Charles, was fond of mity cheese, and on one occasion her brother was commissioned to procure a piece. When he had selected what he thought would do the shopman said, "Shall I pack it up, sir?"

"N-no, I—I th-thank y-you," stammered Lamb. "If—if you—you'll g-give me a—a string I'll—I'll lead it h-home."

Just as Good.

Representative Claude Weaver of Oklahoma is an eloquent and scholarly talker, and in addition he talks with a great many gestures. They are characteristic gestures and sometimes the atmosphere all about him is punched full of holes made by his two index fingers as his hands work in unison. The day after he spoke in regard to Panama canal tolls Weaver asked another colleague:

"Did you hear my speech?"

"No," replied the other man. "I was sitting too far away to hear it, but I distinctly saw it."—New York Sun.

The Retort Aqueous.

During a very heavy flood that nearly washed a town away a few years ago a grocer, to whom one of the citizens owed for an overlong time a good sized bill for provisions, while floating along on the top of the waters in a raft made of two window blinds and a skylight caught sight of his delinquent

"AH, THERE YOU ARE!"

debtor whirling around in one of the pools of the eddying current clinging to a large hogshead.

"Ah, there you are!" cried the grocer, businesslike to the last. "Been looking for you for several days. When are you going to pay that bill?"

"Can't say just now, Sands, old man," returned the unhappy debtor. "I'm having all I can do to keep my head above water these times."

No Yacht Race Today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Newport, R. I., July 16.—The regatta committee this afternoon called off the race of the cup candidate yachts Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance on account of heavy fog. The race will be held tomorrow if weather permits.

CHARTER MEETING THIS EVENING

The first public meeting of the charter revision committee will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the council chambers in the city hall. The general public is cordially invited to be present. Mayor Canfield will deliver an address on why the city needs a new charter.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

John Swarthout died at his home in Boiceville Tuesday aged 84 years. Funeral will be held Friday from his late residence. Interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Orlando N. Perry of Ashokan died Wednesday aged sixty-five years. Funeral will be held Friday from his late residence. Interment in Winchell cemetery.

The funeral of Martin Brown, who died in Brooklyn, was held this afternoon at 2 oclock from the Foxhall Avenue A. M. E. Church at 2 o'clock with interment in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Mrs. Annie Walker, wife of Henry Walker, died on Monday at her home in Willow, aged 34 years. She is survived by a husband and six children. Funeral was held Thursday at the Wesleyan Church, Willow. Interment in Willow cemetery.

The body of the man found off Ferncliff on Wednesday afternoon by members of the crew of the Astor yacht Noma has been identified as that of Joseph Jondo of Whitehall, who was drowned from a barge in a tow above that point on Sunday night. The crew of the Noma at the time of the accident heard cries for help and directed the searchlight on the waters of the river but failed to find the missing man. They brought the body to Kingston Point where it was taken in charge by Coroner Kelly. From descriptions furnished the family by the coroner the identity of the body was established and the remains were shipped to Whitehall.

Judgment in Public Affairs.

Judgment is a possession of an enormous value to a nation, and in proportion as it contains men of judgment, in direct proportion will that nation prosper. What is it that I mean by judgment in public affairs? I mean the capacity for taking a large, calm, and unbiased view.—Lord Rosebery.

REVOLUTIONISTS MUST BEHAVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—The Constitutionalists must prevent disorder and anarchy in the taking over of Mexico City, for if they do not act properly there will be no recognition of their government by the United States. Positive word to this effect today came from the White House.

Emphasis was placed by the White House on the fact that Europe will look to the United States for leadership so far as the recognition of the Constitutionalists is concerned and without such recognition the Carranza government could not survive.

The administration, however, did not seem to be worried over this and made no effort to conceal its elation over Huerta's abdication. Confident predictions were made that the Constitutionalists will conduct themselves in such fashion as to silence their detractors; that there will be no break between Villa and Carranza and nothing to cast discredit on the ability or integrity of the Constitutionalist leaders.

The administration is not yet prepared to face the question of recognizing Carbajal.

Secretary of State Byran and Senor Riano, the Spanish ambassador, conferred on the transition of authority from the present regime to the Constitutionalists. Bryan stated that the important phases of the transition are thoroughly understood by diplomats here, but he added none of the details had as yet been discussed. It is believed at the state department that the recognition of Carbajal will not give this government any concern as his tenancy as provisional president of Mexico will be short.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The store of M. H. Herzog on Wall street will close at noon on Saturdays during July and August.

The Kingston Sunday School Association will hold an important meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The annual picnic and excursion of the Ponckhockie Sunday school will be held at Kingston Point Park with an excursion to Poughkeepsie on July 17.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—There were evidences of further unrest in Wall street at the opening of the stock market today. The tone was nervous and unsettled and nearly all stocks were lower. Most attention was attracted to New York, New Haven and Hartford, whose directors meet this afternoon to attempt to consider plans for the the financial assistance of this tottering system. After making a new low record yesterday New Haven began today at 51, for the loss of ⅛. Within twenty minutes the stock had declined to 50. Missouri Pacific, which also needs financial readjustment, also was prominent. This stock opened at 10⅝ for a decline of ¾. Reading was ⅛ lower on the first transaction but within a few minutes increased its loss. Pennsylvania lost one point and the same amount of loss was sustained by Baltimore and Ohio. New York Central, which has been pressed for sale for some time, declined 1½. United States Steel common began ⅛ off and fractional losses were sustained also in Amalgamated Copper, Western Union, American Car and Foundry, Erie and Northern Pacific. American Tobacco was ¾ higher and Canadian Pacific, which was influenced by its London strength, was 1¼ up. Southern Pacific also made a fractional advance. The curb was nervous. Americans in London shaded their best prices.

Noon—Operations all through the morning included bear attacks, covering of shorts and investment buying in various stocks, creating a highly nervous situation with the tone feverish and unsettled. New Haven, after selling as low as 50¼, rallied to 50⅞. Amalgamated Copper declined ⅛ to 68⅞. Steel Common sold at 59½ against 60¼ at the opening. Reading, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific were off ½. Call money loaning at 2¾ per cent.

2:30 p. m.—Fractional advances were sustained by some of the leading issues in the last hour's trading. The Gould issues were again prominent. The Denver & Rio Grande stocks were under pressure for a while, the Preferred falling more than 3 points to 9¾. Rock Island was also weak. Trading was quiet.

The stock market closed steady; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

MORE TROOPS MAY BE SENT TO VERA CRUZ

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—The possibility that additional troops may have to be sent to Vera Cruz to cope with any emergency that may arise in Mexico City by reason of the change in government there, was being considered today by Secretary of War Garrison and General Wotherspoon, chief of staff.

No immediate action will be taken, but it is understood that division commanders along the Texas border have been advised to keep their commands in readiness for immediate movement.

Funston's forces at Vera Cruz will be strengthened by marines from the ships under Admiral Badger's command. Sailors acting as an auxiliary force will bring the numerical strength of the American forces there up to nearly 30,000 men. No ships will be withdrawn from Vera Cruz pending the settlement of conditions in Mexico City.

LOCAL BASEBALL DOINGS.

Games Played or to be Played by the Home Teams.

The Eddyville baseball Club will not hold a dance Friday evening of this week but will hold one on Friday evening of next week, when excellent music will be furnished and a good time assured.

The Leader baseball team will play the senior team of the Y. M. C. A. this afternon at 6 o'clock on the Athletic Field. The game was scheduled to be played on Tuesday evening of this week but they were compelled to postpone it, because of the unsettled weather until today.

The Mercury A. C. of this city will play a game of baseball with the fast team from Tivoli on Sunday afternoon at Tivoli. Both teams are in fine trim and a hot game is expected. The Tivoli team is considered to be one of the fastest teams in this part of the state, and if the Mercury A. C. is victorious it will mean that they played some game of ball.

The Red Monograms were defeated by the Astors of Rhinebeck at the latter place on Wednesday afternoon, the score being 5 to 0. This was the first defeat for Eddie Sherer, the slab artist for the locals, for the season, but the hard hitting Astors had their batting clothes on and solved his curves. Dick Williams replaced him in the fifth inning. On Sunday the Monograms will play the Rhinecliff team at McVey's field.

The baseball game in the Sunday School League which was to have been played yesterday between the First Dutch and the Albany Avenue Churches, was not played as the team representing the First Reformed Sunday school did not appear. The game was forfeited to the other team. The next game in the league will be played between the [illegible] Rondout Churches.

John Cuneo did not make a mistake a few few years ago when he signed up big Jay Kirke of Fleischmanns to play the infield. Jay hits like a fiend and acts as much like Honus Wagner when playing as anyone could imagine. After a season of two in the State and National Leagues he has finally signed up as first baseman with Cleveland. He is clouting the horse hide off the ball at every session lately.

The Manor A. C. baseball team will match their skill with the fast Centrals of this city on their grounds at Downs Park on Sunday afternoon. At the beginning of the season the two teams made a schedule of three games, the winner of two of them to be considered the faster team. This game Sunday will be the third one of the series. The Manors have been declared the stronger aggregation as they have already won the first two games, but have decided to play the third one just the same. The Manor team is composed of the following players: H. Johnson, M. Finch, J. Demler, F. Howard, F. Dowell, J. Stanford D. Van Buren. Any team wishing to arrange a game with this club may do so through the columns of this paper or by calling No. 1331 on the phone.

Kelly, who played with Kingston last year in the New York and New Jersey League, is batting around .450 for Bill McCabe's Poughkeepsie's team and according to the New York Mail all the big scouts are after him. The Mail says: "This Kelly person is the same young man who as Mike Costello had about seventy big league scouts spending half their time at St. Mary's College down in Maryland only a few years ago. Kelly, or Costello, is batting around .450, stealing a couple of dozen bases a day and has scored seven or eight assists from the outfield, from which one is led to suppose that he totes a pretty fair arm."

LATHAM'S HOME RUN.

It Figured in Fixing Upon Him the Title of "The Dude."

Charley Comiskey told the story of how Arlie Latham came to be called "the dude."

"One spring during Latham's term of service with the good old St. Louis Browns," said Comiskey, "he jumped into the opening game of the season and won us a victory by knocking out a home run in the last inning. Chris von der Ahe from his place in the grand stand saw Arlie make his sensational hit and naturally enthused. After the game 'der boss president' entered the clubhouse and in that particular dialect of his said to Latham:

"'Arlie, my poy, you must be glad that I, Chris, vas proud mit you, an' I vill show you vat my feelings is by giving you the present of somedings for you to wear on yourself. Take dis order on mine own tailor an' go an' dress up yourself.'

"Chris' order on the tailor read something like this:

"'Give to Arlie der t'ings vat he buys, an' send to me der bill.'

"Latham didn't do a thing on the strength of that order but replenish his wardrobe. For three days in succession he showed up at the ball park in a fine makeup, and every suit of clothes was brand new. On the fourth day Chris got a bill from the clothing people for $100. Naturally he sent for Latham and demanded an explanation.

"'Why, Chris, old pal,' said Latham, 'there's nothing to explain. Didn't you agree in that order you gave me to pay for what I bought, and haven't I just begun to buy? Why, old pal, I have only got three suits and expect to be measured for another this afternoon. What's wrong?'

"'Arlie,' replied Von der Ahe, 'you vas de one infernal dude in de pizness. I vill dis bill pay, but you vill yourself go to der tailor an' mit him explain vot I dink of der impudence of you yourself. You vill also stop mit de clothes you now have on an' do no more such foolishness mit der man vot pays your salary. Arlie, you vas one dude, an' if you play mit any errors dis afternoon I vill myself fine you all der bootiful clothes you have yourself bought.'

"From that day Latham became known to the baseball world as 'the dude.'"

Pretty Lively.

Miss Lamb, sister of Charles, was fond of mity cheese, and on one occasion her brother was commissioned to procure a piece. When he had selected what he thought would do the shopman said, "Shall I pack it up, sir?"

"N-no, I—I th-thank y-you," stammered Lamb. "If—if you—you'll g-give me a—a string I'll—I'll lead it h-home."

Just as Good.

Representative Claude Weaver of Oklahoma is an eloquent and scholarly talker, and in addition he talks with a great many gestures. They are characteristic gestures and sometimes the atmosphere all about him is punched full of holes made by his two index fingers as his hands work in unison. The day after he spoke in regard to Panama canal tolls Weaver asked another colleague:

"Did you hear my speech?"

"No," replied the other man. "I was sitting too far away to hear it, but I distinctly saw it."—New York Sun.

The Retort Aqueous.

During a very heavy flood that nearly washed a town away a few years ago a grocer, to whom one of the citizens owed for an overlong time a good sized bill for provisions, while floating along on the top of the waters in a raft made of two window blinds and a skylight caught sight of his delinquent

"AH, THERE YOU ARE!"

debtor whirling around in one of the pools of the eddying current clinging to a large hogshead.

"Ah, there you are!" cried the grocer, businesslike to the last. "Been looking for you for several days. When are you going to pay that bill?"

"Can't say just now, Sands, old man," returned the unhappy debtor. "I'm having all I can do to keep my head above water these times."

No Yacht Race Today.

BELL AND VILLA CONFER ON BRIDGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., July 16.—An official mystery was made today of a conference held late last night between Major General J. Franklin Bell, commander of the American troops on the border, and General Francisco Villa, the Constitutionalist chieftain. It took place at the center of the International Bridge connecting El Paso and Juarez and with the exception of the two generals and their aides no one was present.

While the conference was on, traffic over the bridge was suspended and the two commanders who met where President Taft and President Diaz exchanged courtesies in 1909, were uninterrupted.

When the conference ended General Villa returned to Juarez and there declared that the meeting had been only of courtesy and was held at night to avoid publicity.

Though the resignation of Huerta is expected by Constitutionalist officers to hasten peace in Mexico, many of the warriors in Juarez today expressed regret that the dictator had fled.

If captured by Constitutionalist troops he will be given short shift.

Villa's followers believe that Huerta will retire to his native state of Oaxaca and there, with a force of loyal Federals, wage a guerilla warfare like that which Emiliano Zapata has successfully conducted in Morelos for three years.

"We have not heard the last of Huerta," said Arturo Elias, consular representative of the Huerta government in El Paso.

"I will be very much surprised if Gen. Huerta does not take the field in person and fight the rebels at Queretaro.

"It seems very strange that General Huerta should resign and flee without having attempted to defend the national capital."

CHAP. 412.

AN ACT to provide for the retention and maintenance of a portion of the present Champlain canal in the county of Saratoga, for navigation and terminal purposes, to be used in conjunction with and after the completion of the barge canal.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. On and after the completion of the improvement of the Champlain canal, as authorized by chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three as amended, that portion of the present unimproved Champlain canal extending from a point immediately south of the Schuylerville waste weir northerly, to connect with the new barge canal at a point near or just north of the barge canal lock at Northumberland, shall be retained as part of the canal system of the state and shall be maintained together with the towing path and other necessary structures in a condition for navigation, on the same by craft of dimensions now making use of said portion of the canals.

§ 2. The retention for terminal purposes of that portion of the present Champlain canal, as described in section one of this act, will necessitate the construction of a guard lock of size and dimensions of the locks now in use on the present Champlain canal system of the state. The state engineer and surveyor shall prepare the necessary plans and specifications for carrying out the provisions of this act and submit the same for the approval of the canal board, which board shall consider the work to be done under this act as furnishing terminal facilities to the village of Schuylerville, and apportion the necessary funds therefor from moneys provided by chapter seven hundred and forty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, which law provided the manner and sequence of furnishing terminal facilities.

§ 3. The cost of maintaining said portion of the Champlain canal referred to in section one of this act shall be paid from any funds provided for the repair, operation and maintenance of the improved system of canals, when the same shall have been completed and placed in commission. On and after the completion of the canal improvement, as authorized by said chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three, the superintendent of public works may fix and determine the hours of the day during which the operation of the unimproved Champlain canal described in section one of this act shall be open to navigation.

§ 4. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 413.

AN ACT to amend the highway law, in relation to contracts for the construction of town highways and bridges and repealing section forty-eight thereof, relating thereto, as amended by chapter six hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section forty-eight of chapter forty of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to highways, constituting chapter twenty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter six hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby repealed, and such chapter is hereby amended by inserting in place thereof a new section forty-eight, to read as follows:

48. Contracts for the construction of town highways and bridges. The town board of any town may provide that the construction of new highways and bridges, or the permanent improvement or reconstruction of existing highways and bridges, the cost of which will exceed five hundred dollars, shall be done under contracts. All such contracts shall be awarded by the town superintendent, in accordance with estimates, plans and specifications to be furnished by the district or county superintendent, or by the commission, as provided in this chapter, to the lowest responsible bidders, after advertisement once a week, for three consecutive weeks, in a newspaper published in the town where the work is to be performed, or if no newspaper is published therein, in a newspaper published at some other place in the county, having the largest circulation in said town. All bids for such work shall be opened in public and shall be filed in the office of the town clerk. No such contract shall be awarded, unless it be approved by the district or county superintendent, as to its form and sufficiency. The person to whom such contract is awarded shall execute a bond to the town, in a sum equal to the amount of the contract, with two or more sureties to be approved by the town board, conditioned for the faithful compliance with the terms of the contract, and the plans and specifications and for a payment of all damages which may accrue to the town, because of a violation thereof. When such work is completed pursuant to the terms of such contract, and the plans and specifications therefor, and accepted by the district or county superintendent and town board, as being in accordance therewith, the cost of the work under the contract shall be paid out of moneys available therefor, in the same manner as other highway expenses. Payments made under such contract shall be upon certificates issued to the contractor by the district or county superintendent, to the effect that the work has been done under and in accordance with the terms of such contract, and the plans and specifications. All work done under any such contract shall be under the supervision of the district or county superintendent, or some person designated by him. The town superintendent shall file all contracts, awarded under this section or as provided in this chapter, for the construction, improvement or repair of town highways and bridges, with the town clerk of the town within ten days after their execution.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 414.

AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to cold storage.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Sections three hundred and thirty-six, three hundred and thirty-seven and three hundred and thirty-eight of chapter forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the public health, constituting chapter forty-five of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and thirty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, are hereby amended to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 336. Cold storage food to be marked. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or in the business of refrigerating, to receive any kind of food unless the said food is in an apparently pure and wholesome condition, and the food or the package containing the same is branded, stamped or marked, in some conspicuous place, with the day, month and year, when the same is received in storage or refrigeration.

It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or in the business of refrigerating to permit any article of any kind whatsoever used for food in the possession of any person or persons, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or refrigerating, to be taken from their possession without first having branded, stamped or marked on said food stuffs or the package containing same, in a conspicuous place, the day, month and year, when said food stuffs or package was removed from cold storage or refrigeration.

It shall also be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation or corporations, to offer for storage in a cold storage warehouse or to place in storage in a cold storage warehouse any article of food unless the same is in an apparently pure and wholesome condition.

§ 337. Time that cold storage foods may be kept. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or refrigerating, or for any person placing food in a cold storage warehouse, to keep in storage for preservation or otherwise any kind of food or any article used for food a longer period than ten calendar months, excepting butter products which may be kept in said cold storage or refrigeration twelve calendar months.

§ 338. Powers of state commissioner of health. The state commissioner of health is hereby vested with full power and authority to inspect and supervise all places in this state now used or hereafter to be used for cold storage or refrigerating purposes; the state commissioner of health or his duly authorized agents or employees shall be permitted access to such place or places and all parts thereof at all times for the purpose of seeing that said place or places are kept and maintained in a clean and sanitary manner, and for the purpose of determining whether or not the provisions of this article or any other act relating to food stuffs are being complied with. The commissioner of health shall have the power by subpoena or subpoena duces tecum, issued and attested by him in his official capacity to require the attendance and testimony before him, or the deputy commissioner, of any person who he may have reason to believe has knowledge of any alleged violation of this article, and the production before him, or the deputy commissioner, of any records, books, papers and documents for the purpose of investigating any alleged violation of this article. Such subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum may be served by any person over the age of twenty-one years. No person shall be excused from attending and testifying or producing any records, books, papers or other documents before said commissioner of health, or the deputy commissioner, upon such investigation upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to convict him of a crime or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be received against him upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding. Any person who shall omit, neglect or refuse to attend and testify or to produce any records, books, papers or documents, if in his power so to do, in obedience to such subpoena or subpoena duces tecum shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who shall wilfully and knowingly make any false statement under oath before the commissioner of health, or the deputy commissioner, concerning a material matter shall be guilty of perjury. The commissioner of health and the deputy commissioner are hereby authorized and empowered to administer oaths and affirmations in the usual appropriate forms to any person in any matter or proceedings authorized as aforesaid and in all matters pertaining or relating to this article and to take and administer oaths and affirmations in the usual appropriate forms, in taking any affidavit or deposition which may be necessary or required by law or by any order, rule or regulation of the commissioner of health for or in connection with the official purposes, affairs, powers, duties or proceedings of said commissioner of health, or the deputy commissioner, or for any official purpose lawfully authorized by said commissioner of health. The power of supervision hereby granted shall extend to enable the state commissioner of health to adopt such reasonable rules and regulations as may be determined upon from time to time as essential to the proper protection of the consumer of the commodities kept and preserved in such place or places, and the state commissioner of health may appoint and designate from time to time such person or persons as he deems fit for the purpose of making such inspections.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 416.

AN ACT to amend chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three, entitled "An act making provision for issuing bonds to the amount of not to exceed one hundred and one million dollars for the improvement of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal and the Champlain canal, and providing for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and three," in relation to payments to contractors.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section nine of chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three, entitled "An act making provision for issuing bonds to the amount of not to exceed one hundred and one million dollars for the improvement of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal and the Champlain canal, and providing for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and three," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. The superintendent of public works may, from time to time, upon the certificate of the state engineer, pay to the contractor or contractors a sum not exceeding ninety per centum of the value of the work performed, and such certificate of the state engineer must state the amount of work performed and its total value, but in all cases not less than ten per centum of the estimate thus certified must be retained until the contract is completed and approved by the state engineer and the superintendent of public works, provided, however, that the contractor or contractors may, from time to time, withdraw portions of the amounts thus retained upon depositing with the state comptroller securities of a market value equal to the amount so withdrawn, said securities to be of the character in which the savings banks of the state of New York are authorized by law to invest moneys. The state comptroller shall collect all interest, dividends or other profits or income on the securities so deposited by the contractor or contractors, and shall when and as collected pay the same to the contractor or contractors. If the securities are in the form of coupon bonds, the coupons as they respectively become due shall be delivered to the contractor or contractors. The contractor or contractors, however, shall not be entitled to interest, dividends or other profits or income on any securities, the proceeds of which shall be used or applied in completing a contract as provided in section seven of this act. If a contract shall not have been completed within the time provided therefor in the contract and the canal board shall have determined that the delay was due to a fault of the state, the state engineer shall include in each monthly estimate for work performed and material furnished after the date for such completion an allowance of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum on all money retained by the state, computed from the date on which the contract was to have been completed.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the tax law, in relation to sales by county treasurers.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section one hundred and fifty of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapters three hundred and seventy-seven and six hundred and forty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 150. When lands to be sold for unpaid taxes. Whenever any tax charged on real estate in the counties of Saint Lawrence, Lewis, Clinton, Warren and Oneida, or in a county not including a portion of the forest preserve, is returned to the county treasurer, he shall not return the same to the comptroller, but if such tax, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum per annum, computed from the first day of February, after the same is levied, shall remain unpaid for six months from that date, such county treasurer shall advertise and sell such real estate as herein provided for the payment of such tax and interest and the expenses of such sale. The expense of publication of the notice of sale and the list of lands to be sold and the expense of conducting the sale, and the expense of publication of the notice of unredeemed lands, if thereafter redeemed, shall be a charge on the land liable to be sold and shall be added to the tax and interest. The county treasurers of the counties of Rockland and Suffolk may defer the sale of any parcel of nonresident real estate in their respective counties for unpaid taxes, until the unpaid taxes thereon with accrued interest shall amount in the aggregate to the sum of two dollars. The county treasurer of Suffolk county on order of the board of supervisors of said county may defer for not exceeding two years from the date of the levy of the tax, the sale for unpaid taxes of such properties subject thereto as such board may specify, and the unpaid taxes on such parcels shall meantime be charged with interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT making an appropriation for the construction of buildings for the Schoharie State School of Agriculture at Cobleskill.

Became a law April 18, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of moneys in the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated, for the construction upon the lands acquired by the state pursuant to chapter eight hundred and two of the laws of nineteen hundred and seven, of suitable buildings for the use of the Schoharie State School of Agriculture at Cobleskill, in conformity with the provisions of section three of such act, to be expended in the manner therein provided. The moneys so appropriated shall be paid out by the state treasurer on the warrant of the comptroller, upon the requisition of the board of trustees of said school and advanced to such board as the work progresses or the purchase of material is made, upon bills duly certified and audited.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 429.

AN ACT to authorize the state architect to receive tenders of sale or gift to the state of real estate in the city of Buffalo, as a site for a state building in said city to contain all branch offices of state officers, bureaus or departments now located or needed in said city, and to authorize the city of Buffalo to offer or consider the sale or gift of such site.

Became a law April 18, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Accepted by the City.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The state architect is hereby authorized to invite and receive public offers for the sale or gift to the state of land for a state building in the city of Buffalo; and the city of Buffalo is authorized and empowered to tender any site owned by it, either as a gift or for any valuable consideration.

§ 2. The state architect shall determine the approximate minimum size of the plot of land necessary for the building to contain suitable branch offices for all state departments, bureaus and departments having occasion for branch offices in the city of Buffalo, but not including offices or court rooms for the supreme court, or the justices thereof, or officers or offices connected with the national guard.

§ 3. The approximate minimum size shall be specified in a notice or invitation for proposals, which notice the state architect is hereby authorized to publish in two or more newspapers of the city of Buffalo, not more than five times in each paper.

§ 4. The state architect shall report to the governor all tenders received by him together with such recommendations concerning the same as he may deem proper, not later than the month of January, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

BELL AND VILLA CONFER ON BRIDGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., July 16.—An official mystery was made today of a conference held late last night between Major General J. Franklin Bell, commander of the American troops on the border, and General Francisco Villa, the Constitutionalist chieftain. It took place at the center of the International Bridge connecting El Paso and Juarez and with the exception of the two generals and their aides no one was present.

While the conference was on, traffic over the bridge was suspended and the two commanders who met where President Taft and President Diaz exchanged courtesies in 1909, were uninterrupted.

When the conference ended General Villa returned to Juarez and there declared that the meeting had been only of courtesy and was held at night to avoid publicity.

Though the resignation of Huerta is expected by Constitutionalist officers to hasten peace in Mexico, many of the warriors in Juarez today expressed regret that the dictator had fled.

If captured by Constitutionalist troops he will be given short shift.

Villa's followers believe that Huerta will retire to his native state of Oaxaca and there, with a force of loyal Federals, wage a guerilla warfare like that which Emiliano Zapata has successfully conducted in Morelos for three years.

"We have not heard the last of Huerta," said Arturo Elias, consular representative of the Huerta government in El Paso.

"I will be very much surprised if Gen. Huerta does not take the field in person and fight the rebels at Queretaro.

"It seems very strange that General Huerta should resign and flee without having attempted to defend the national capital."

AN ACT to provide for the retention and maintenance of a portion of the present Champlain canal in the county of Saratoga, for navigation and terminal purposes, to be used in conjunction with and after the completion of the barge canal.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. On and after the completion of the improvement of the Champlain canal, as authorized by chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three as amended, that portion of the present unimproved Champlain canal extending from a point immediately south of the Schuylerville waste weir northerly, to connect with the new barge canal at a point near or just north of the barge canal lock at Northumberland, shall be retained as part of the canal system of the state and shall be maintained together with the towing path and other necessary structures in a condition for navigation, on the same by craft of dimensions now making use of said portion of the canals.

§ 2. The retention for terminal purposes of that portion of the present Champlain canal, as described in section one of this act, will necessitate the construction of a guard lock of size and dimensions of the locks now in use on the present Champlain canal system of the state. The state engineer and surveyor shall prepare the necessary plans and specifications for carrying out the provisions of this act and submit the same for the approval of the canal board, which board shall consider the work to be done under this act as furnishing terminal facilities to the village of Schuylerville, and apportion the necessary funds therefor from moneys provided by chapter seven hundred and forty-six of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, which law provided the manner and sequence of furnishing terminal facilities.

§ 3. The cost of maintaining said portion of the Champlain canal referred to in section one of this act shall be paid from any funds provided for the repair, operation and maintenance of the improved system of canals, when the same shall have been completed and placed in commission. On and after the completion of the canal improvement, as authorized by said chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three, the superintendent of public works may fix and determine the hours of the day during which the operation of the unimproved Champlain canal described in section one of this act shall be open to navigation.

§ 4. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the highway law, in relation to contracts for the construction of town highways and bridges and repealing section forty-eight thereof, relating thereto, as amended by chapter six hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section forty-eight of chapter [illegible] of the laws of nineteen hundred and [illegible], entitled "An act relating to highways, constituting chapter twenty-five of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapter six hundred and twenty-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby repealed, and such chapter is hereby amended by inserting in place thereof a new section forty-eight, to read as follows:

48. Contracts for the construction of town highways and bridges. The town board of any town may provide that the construction of new highways and bridges, or the permanent improvement or reconstruction of existing highways and bridges, the cost of which will exceed five hundred dollars, shall be done under contracts. All such contracts shall be awarded by the town superintendent, in accordance with certified plans and specifications to be furnished by the district or county superintendent or by the commission, as provided by this chapter, to the lowest responsible bidders, after advertisement once a week, for three consecutive weeks, in a newspaper published in the town where the work is to be performed, or if no newspaper is published therein, in a newspaper published at some other place in the county, having the largest circulation in said town. All bids for such work shall be opened in public and shall be filed in the office of the town clerk. No such contract shall be awarded, unless it be approved by the district or county superintendent, as to its form and sufficiency. The person to whom such contract is awarded shall execute a bond to the town, in a sum equal to the amount of the contract, with two or more sureties to be approved by the town board, conditioned for the faithful compliance with the terms of the contract, and the plans and specifications and for a payment of all damages which may accrue to the town, because of a violation thereof. When such work is completed pursuant to the terms of such contract, and the plans and specifications therefor, and accepted by the district or county superintendent and town board, as being in accordance therewith, the cost of the work under the contract shall be paid out of moneys available therefor, in the same manner as other highway expenses. Payments made under such contract shall be upon certificates issued to the contractor by the district or county superintendent, to the effect that the work has been done under and in accordance with the terms of such contract, and the plans and specifications. All work done under any such contract shall be under the supervision of the district or county superintendent, or some person designated by him. The town superintendent shall file all contracts, awarded under this section or as provided in this chapter, for the construction, improvement or repair of town highways and bridges, with the town clerk of the town within ten days after their execution.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to cold storage.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Sections three hundred and thirty-six, three hundred and thirty-seven and three hundred and thirty-eight of chapter forty-nine of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to the public health, constituting chapter forty-five of the consolidated laws," as added by chapter three hundred and thirty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, are hereby amended to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 336. Cold storage food to be marked. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or in the business of refrigerating, to receive any kind of food unless the said food is in an apparently pure and wholesome condition, and the food or the package containing the same is branded, stamped or marked, in some conspicuous place, with the day, month and year, when the same is received in storage or refrigeration.

It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or in the business of refrigerating to permit any article of any kind whatsoever used for food in the possession of any person or persons, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or refrigerating, to be taken from their possession without first having branded, stamped or marked on said food stuffs or the package containing same, in a conspicuous place, the day, month and year, when said food stuffs or package was removed from cold storage or refrigeration.

It shall also be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation or corporations, to offer for storage in a cold storage warehouse or to place in storage in a cold storage warehouse any article of food unless the same is in an apparently pure and wholesome condition.

§ 337. Time that cold storage foods may be kept. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person, corporation or corporations, engaged in the business of cold storage warehousemen or refrigerating, or for any person placing food in a cold storage warehouse, to keep in storage for preservation or otherwise any kind of food or any article used for food a longer period than ten calendar months, excepting butter products which may be kept in said cold storage or refrigeration twelve calendar months.

§ 338. Powers of state commissioner of health. The state commissioner of health is hereby vested with full power and authority to inspect and supervise all places in this state now used or hereafter to be used for cold storage or refrigerating purposes; the state commissioner of health or his duly authorized agents or employees shall be permitted access to such place or places and all parts thereof at all times for the purpose of seeing that said place or places are kept and maintained in a clean and sanitary manner, and for the purpose of determining whether or not the provisions of this article or any other act relating to food stuffs are being complied with. The commissioner of health shall have the power by subpoena or subpoena duces tecum, issued and attested by him in his official capacity to require the attendance and testimony before him, or the deputy commissioner, of any person who he may have reason to believe has knowledge of any alleged violation of this article, and the production before him, or the deputy commissioner, of any records, books, papers and documents for the purpose of investigating any alleged violation of this article. Such subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum may be served by any person over the age of twenty-one years. No person shall be excused from attending and testifying or producing any records, books, papers or other documents before said commissioner of health, or the deputy commissioner, upon such investigation upon the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to convict him of a crime or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, and no testimony so given or produced shall be received against him upon any criminal action, investigation or proceeding. Any person who shall omit, neglect or refuse to attend and testify or to produce any records, books, papers or documents, if in his power so to do, in obedience to such subpoena or subpoena duces tecum shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person who shall wilfully and knowingly make any false statement under oath before the commissioner of health, or the deputy commissioner, concerning a material matter shall be guilty of perjury. The commissioner of health and the deputy commissioner are hereby authorized and empowered to administer oaths and affirmations in the usual appropriate forms to any person in any matter or proceedings authorized as aforesaid and in all matters pertaining or relating to this article and to take and administer oaths and affirmations in the usual appropriate forms, in taking any affidavit or deposition which may be necessary or required by law or by any order, rule or regulation of the commissioner of health for or in connection with the official purposes, affairs, powers, duties or proceedings of said commissioner of health, or the deputy commissioner, or for any official purpose lawfully authorized by said commissioner of health. The power of supervision hereby granted shall extend to enable the state commissioner of health to adopt such reasonable rules and regulations as may be determined upon from time to time as essential to the proper protection of the consumer of the commodities kept and preserved in such place or places, and the state commissioner of health may appoint and designate from time to time such person or persons as he deems fit for the purpose of making such inspections.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section nine of chapter one hundred and forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and three, entitled "An act making provision for issuing bonds to the amount of not to exceed one hundred and one million dollars for the improvement of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal and the Champlain canal, and providing for a submission of the same to the people to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred and three," is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 9. The superintendent of public works may, from time to time, upon the certificate of the state engineer, pay to the contractor or contractors a sum not exceeding ninety per centum of the value of the work performed, and such certificate of the state engineer must state the amount of work performed and its total value, but in all cases not less than ten per centum of the estimate thus certified must be retained until the contract is completed and approved by the state engineer and the superintendent of public works, provided, however, that the contractor or contractors may, from time to time, withdraw portions of the amounts thus retained upon depositing with the state comptroller securities of a market value equal to the amount so withdrawn, said securities to be of the character in which the savings banks of the state of New York are authorized by law to invest moneys. The state comptroller shall collect all interest, dividends or other profits or income on the securities so deposited by the contractor or contractors, and shall when and as collected pay the same to the contractor or contractors. If the securities are in the form of coupon bonds, the coupons as they respectively become due shall be delivered to the contractor or contractors. The contractor or contractors, however, shall not be entitled to interest, dividends or other profits or income on any securities, the proceeds of which shall be used or applied in completing a contract as provided in section seven of this act. If a contract shall not have been completed within the time provided therefor in the contract and the canal board shall have determined that the delay was due to a fault of the state, the state engineer shall include in each monthly estimate for work performed and material furnished after the date for such completion an allowance of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum on all money retained by the state, computed from the date on which the contract was to have been completed.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to amend the tax law, in relation to sales by county treasurers.

Became a law April 17, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section one hundred and fifty of chapter sixty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter sixty of the consolidated laws," as amended by chapters three hundred and seventy-seven and six hundred and forty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and thirteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 150. When lands to be sold for unpaid taxes. Whenever any tax charged on real estate in the counties of Saint Lawrence, Lewis, Clinton, Warren and Oneida, or in a county not including a portion of the forest preserve, is returned to the county treasurer, he shall not return the same to the comptroller, but if such tax, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum per annum, computed from the first day of February, after the same is levied, shall remain unpaid for six months from that date, such county treasurer shall advertise and sell such real estate as herein provided for the payment of such tax and interest and the expenses of such sale. The expense of publication of the notice of sale and the list of lands to be sold and the expense of conducting the sale, and the expense of publication of the notice of unredeemed lands, if thereafter redeemed, shall be a charge on the land liable to be sold and shall be added to the tax and interest. The county treasurers of the counties of Rockland and Suffolk may defer the sale of any parcel of nonresident real estate in their respective counties for unpaid taxes, until the unpaid taxes thereon with accrued interest shall amount in the aggregate to the sum of two dollars. The county treasurer of Suffolk county on order of the board of supervisors of said county may defer for not exceeding two years from the date of the levy of the tax, the sale for unpaid taxes of such properties subject thereto as such board may specify, and the unpaid taxes on such parcels shall meantime be charged with interest at the rate of tan per centum per annum.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT making an appropriation for the construction of buildings for the Schoharie State School of Agriculture at Cobleskill.

Became a law April 18, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of moneys in the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated, for the construction on the lands acquired by the state pursuant to chapter eight hundred and seventy-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and seven, of suitable buildings for the purposes of the Schoharie State School of Agriculture at Cobleskill, in conformity with the provisions of section three of such act. The moneys so appropriated shall be expended in the manner therein provided. The moneys so appropriated shall be paid out by the state treasurer on the warrant of the comptroller, upon the requisition of the board of trustees of said school and advanced to such board as the work progresses or the purchase of land is made, upon bills duly certified and audited.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

AN ACT to authorize the state architect to receive tenders of sale or gift to the state of real estate in the city of Buffalo, suitable site for a state building in said city to contain all branch offices of state officers, bureaus or departments now located or needed in said city, and to advise the city of Buffalo to offer or tender the sale or gift of such site.

Became a law April 18, 1914, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

Accepted by the City.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The state architect is hereby authorized to invite and receive public tenders for the sale or gift to the state of land for a state building in the city of Buffalo and the city of Buffalo is authorized and empowered to tender any site owned by it, either as a gift or for any valuable consideration.

§ 2. The state architect shall determine the approximate minimum size of the plot of land necessary for the building to contain suitable branch offices for all state officers, bureaus and departments having occasion for branch offices in the city of Buffalo, but not including offices or court rooms for the supreme court, or the justices thereof, or officers or offices connected with the national guard.

§ 3. The approximate minimum size shall be specified in a notice or invitation for tenders, which notice the state architect is authorized to publish in two or more newspapers of the city of Buffalo, not more than five times in each paper.

§ 4. The state architect shall report to the governor all tenders received by him together with such recommendations concerning the same as he may deem proper, on or before the month of January, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

State of New York, Office of the Secretary of State, ss.:

REEL'S SUMMER SAIL.

Prominent Poughkeepsie Men Make a Voyage on the Bunko.

Commodore Gordon Reel entertained the R. Y. O. Club Wednesday, aboard his private yacht, the Bunko. Among those present (need any one ask?) were the Spratts, the Hasbroucks, the Mapeses, the Lowns, the Troys, the Coleman's, but not the Browns.

"Why did'nt you go?" some one asked E. Lyman Brown.

"Hayin."

"No other reason?"

"Yes, I had only $7 and I was afraid the ticket might cost ten."

There was no ticket, however. The outing was entirely complimentary. Any money displayed was confiscated.

Arrived at Gordon Point, opposite Reelville, Ulster county, the commodore took off his tarpaulins and put on overalls and a straw hat two feet wide. His "farm" was visited by the bunch he was escorting. The neighbors called him "Squire" as he passed. One would think he was an actor, he changed so quickly.

A jug of cider was passed around, under the shade of the old apple tree. Corn cob pipes were lighted and a business session of the Raise You One Club was soon in progress.

A hint from the farmer that he needed help in the hayfield was met in stern silence by the club.

A resolution was passed to donate all the loose silver, nickels and pennies to charity, and after disposing of all the routine business the members returned to their rakish craft in the river. Not one was missing when the boat touched the foot of Main street.—Poughkeepsie Star.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, July 16.—The Feds seem to have uncovered a sure-enough "second Ty Cobb" in the person of Benny Kauff, of the Indianapolis team. Kauff has been clubbing them out all season around the .400 mark, has been running bases with the daring and dash of the wonderful Georgian, can cover a marvelous amount of territory in the outfield and has an unerring arm.

Kauff so far hasn't shown any batting weakness. He hits everything that comes his way, and it matters not whether the slants that are thrown up to him are from the arms of Tom Seaton, Russel Ford, Otey Crandall or some of the recruit pitchers in the new league? Most of Kauff's hits have the same whistling force that made Wagner and Lajoie famous as sluggers, but he also is a wonderful man at laying down bunts and beating them out.

If Kauff, in his present form had been uncovered in the American or National League this year, his face would be peering forth from the sporting pages almost daily. But the Indianapolis star has the misfortune of being in a new league this year and his deeds are not being very widely heralded. But before another years rolls round, those who have seen Kauff in of his games, declare that even the most biased Organized critic will have to admit that Kauff takes ranking with Cobb, Jackson and Speaker.

* * * *

Kauff, by the way was a member of the New York Yankees for a brief period in 1911. Even then he showed wonderful ability as a batter, but he lacked field experience, and Hal Chace, then manager of the club, turned him loose because he felt that he did not have time to develop him. The Yankees at that time were well fortified with fielders.

Kauff went to the New London, Conn. team, in the Eastern Association, and set it afire with his terrific hitting. He took part in 35 games, finishing the season with 176 hits for an average of .345. Many of those hits were for extra bases.

When the Feds were looking around for players early last winter one of their scouts was tipped off to Kauff and the demon slugger affixed his name to a contract.

* * * *

Down in Hot Springs, Va., the natives still tell, with bated breath, of the terrific drive made by Honus Wagner of the Pirates, when he mixed up in a golfing game there during a recent visit.

Honus, so the story goes, had been coaxed out into the links and was shown the intricacies of the game. Honus went the rounds once or twice, but, because he was handicapped by the advice of the expert golfers, he never was able to get a full swing at the ball. However, after the game was over Honus remarked that he though he could get more distance with a drive if allowed to follow his own ideas.

"That's a mistake" said one of the golfers. In baseball, the harder you hit a ball the farther it goes. But it's different in golf. It isn't strength that counts in the golfing game."

"Mebbe not, mebbe not" remarked Honus. But I kinda think I could shoot that little ball pretty far if I got a good swipe on it."

The argument carried over into the next day and it finally was decided to let Honus try at hitting the ball after his own ideas. So when the golfers got on a little hillside that overlooked the valley, Honus approached the tee for the experimental shot.

Honus teed up his ball with considerable sand underneath, stepped back a foot or two, grasped the club firmly in his huge paws and then made a mighty swing. The wood crashed full and fair against the ball, and away it shot like a rifle bullet. It cleared not only the valley, but the town on the other side of it, and when last seen the ball still was sailing upwards in the general direction of the sun.

"I kinda thought I could do it" was Honus's only remark as he made his second drive.

* * * *

The fans in Chicago who have remained loyal to the Cubs are now bemoaning the fact that Tinker and Evans are no longer in their midst. They feel that with these two stars back in the Cub infield the Cubs would have a mighty bright chance for the pennant.

* * * *

Tinker's position at shortstopping job never has been filled satisfactorily. It always has remained the weak spot in the inner breastworks. Bill Sweeney, who is playing at second in place of Johnny Evers is doing good work but he no Evers in hitting, fielding or thinking.

Form a Just Estimate.

Each man in his sphere, however narrow or extended, will find that his fellow men weigh his character and his abilities often, and unconsciously stamp him with their estimate; and that the average resultant of these frequent averages is just.—E. Pierrepont.

A number from this place are planning to attend the ice cream social at Kripplebush Saturday evening, July 18.

Jesse Quick is employed by Arthur Davis during harvest.

Miss Ethel Furman of Granville spent Sunday at the Idylkrest farm.

There will be Sunday school Sunday at two o'clock. We would like to see everybody out and try to make the Sunday school a success.

MEMORIAL SERVICE ON THE POWELL

A beautiful and appropriate memorial service in memory of Captain Anderson was held on the Mary Powell Wednesday afternoon, and one that will long be remembered by all who were present. On the return of the excursion of the English Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the boat stopped at three o'clock off Port Washington and the boat's bell tolled as the crew assembled and lined up in the cabin, where the excursionists also were gathered. The choir of the church, together with some fine additional voices, sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and Pastor Howard E. Snyder offered a short prayer. At the close of the prayer, the Rev. Mr. Snyder spoke of Captain Anderson as one who had been universally known along the country bordering the Hudson river. Through the efforts of Captain Anderson and his father, the Powell had been made what it was, the "Queen of the Hudson." Captain Anderson was characterized as a man of sterling qualities; of few words but meaning every word he said. He knew how to control men and was a real commander. And he was a man with a big heart. The feeling generally prevailed that with the passing of Captain Anderson would come the passing of the Mary Powell. In closing Mr. Snyder said that the sudden death of Captain Anderson should be a warning to all of the uncertainty of life, and the need of so living that death should find each and everyone ready to lay down his life work here, having done his or her best. The deep emotion evinced by the crew in particular and the many friends of the late captain of the Powell, showed in what warm and high esteem he was held by all.

Careless Mr. Noah.

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, July 16.—The Feds seem to have uncovered a sure-enough "second Ty Cobb" in the person of Benny Kauff, of the Indianapolis team. Kauff has been clubbing them out all season around the .400 mark, has been running bases with the daring and dash of the wonderful Georgian, can cover a marvelous amount of territory in the outfield and has an unerring arm.

Kauff so far hasn't shown any batting weakness. He hits everything that comes his way, and it matters not whether the slants that are thrown up to him are from the arms of Tom Seaton, Russel Ford, Otey Crandall or some of the recruit pitchers in the new league? Most of Kauff's hits have the same whistling force that made Wagner and Lajoie famous as sluggers, but he also is a wonderful man at laying down bunts and beating them out.

If Kauff, in his present form had been uncovered in the American or National League this year, his face would be peering forth from the sporting pages almost daily. But the Indianapolis star has the misfortune of being in a new league this year and his deeds are not being very widely heralded. But before another years rolls round, those who have seen Kauff in of his games, declare that even the most biased Organized critic will have to admit that Kauff takes ranking with Cobb, Jackson and Speaker.

• • • •

Kauff, by the way was a member of the New York Yankees for a brief period in 1911. Even then he showed wonderful ability as a batter, but he lacked field experience, and Hal Chace, then manager of the club, turned him loose because he felt that he did not have time to develop him. The Yankees at that time were well fortified with fielders.

Kauff went to the New London, Conn. team, in the Eastern Association, and set it afire with his terrific hitting. He took part in 35 games, finishing the season with 176 hits for an average of .345. Many of those hits were for extra bases.

When the Feds were looking around for players early last winter one of their scouts was tipped off to Kauff and the demon slugger affixed his name to a contract.

Down in Hot Springs, Va., the natives still tell, with bated breath, of the terrific drive made by Honus Wagner of the Pirates, when he mixed up in a golfing game there during a recent visit.

Honus, so the story goes, had been coaxed out into the links and was shown the intricacies of the game. Honus went the rounds once or twice, but, because he was handicapped by the advice of the expert golfers, he never was able to get a full swing at the ball. However, after the game was over Honus remarked that he though he could get more distance with a drive if allowed to follow his own ideas.

"That's a mistake" said one of the golfers. In baseball, the harder you hit a ball the farther it goes. But it's different in golf. It isn't strength that counts in the golfing game."

"Mebbe not, mebbe not" remarked Honus. But I kinda think I could shoot that little ball pretty far if I got a good swipe on it."

The argument carried over into the next day and it finally was decided to let Honus try at hitting the ball after his own ideas. So when the golfers got on a little hillside that overlooked the valley, Honus approached the tee for the experimental shot.

Honus teed up his ball with considerable sand underneath, stepped back a foot or two, grasped the club firmly in his huge paws and then made a mighty swing. The wood crashed full and fair against the ball, and away it shot like a rifle bullet. It cleared not only the valley, but the town on the other side of it, and when last seen the ball still was sailing upwards in the general direction of the sun.

"I kinda thought I could do it" was Honus's only remark as he made his second drive.

The fans in Chicago who have remained loyal to the Cubs are now bemoaning the fact that Tinker and Evans are no longer in their midst. They feel that with these two stars back in the Cub infield the Cubs would have a mighty bright chance for the pennant.

• • • •

Tinker's position at shortstopping job never has been filled satisfactorily. It always has remained the weak spot in the inner breastworks. Bill Sweeney, who is playing at second in place of Johnny Evers is doing good work but he no Evers in hitting, fielding or thinking.

Form a Just Estimate.

Each man in his sphere, however narrow or extended, will find that his fellow men weigh his character and his abilities often, and unconsciously stamp him with their estimate; and that the average resultant of these frequent averages is just.—E. Pierrepont.

Jesse Quick is employed by Arthur Davis during harvest.

Miss Ethel Furman of Grahaville spent Sunday at the Idylkrest farm.

There will be Sunday school Sunday at two o'clock. We would like to see everybody out and try to make the Sunday school a success.

MEMORIAL SERVICE ON THE POWELL

A beautiful and appropriate memorial service in memory of Captain Anderson was held on the Mary Powell Wednesday afternoon, and one that will long be remembered by all who were present. On the return of the excursion of the English Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the boat stopped at three o'clock off Port Washington and the boat's bell tolled as the crew assembled and lined up in the cabin, where the excursionists also were gathered. The choir of the church, together with some fine additional voices, sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and Pastor Howard E. Snyder offered a short prayer. At the close of the prayer, the Rev. Mr. Snyder spoke of Captain Anderson as one who had been universally known along the country bordering the Hudson river. Through the efforts of Captain Anderson and his father, the Powell had been made what it was, the "Queen of the Hudson." Captain Anderson was characterized as a man of sterling qualities; of few words but meaning every word he said. He knew how to control men and was a real commander. And he was a man with a big heart. The feeling generally prevailed that with the passing of Captain Anderson would come the passing of the Mary Powell. In closing Mr. Snyder said that the sudden death of Captain Anderson should be a warning to all of the uncertainty of life, and the need of so living that death should find each and everyone ready to lay down his life work here, having done his or her best. The deep emotion evinced by the crew in particular and the many friends of the late captain of the Powell, showed in what warm and high esteem he was held by all.

Careless Mr. Noah.
